

permitting drug abuse; and to add lisdexamfetamine to the list of schedule II controlled substances.

31-1 (Skindell)

Gongwer Coverage

COMMITTEE HEARINGS

Energy & Natural Resources

HB 114

RENEWABLE ENERGY (Blessing, L.) To revise the provisions governing renewable energy, energy efficiency, and peak demand reduction and to alter funding allocations under the Home Energy Assistance Program.
(SCHEDULED BUT NOT HEARD (See separate story); 8th Hearing-Possible amendments & vote)

SB 51

LAKE ERIE (Skindell, M., Eklund, J.) To authorize the creation of a special improvement district to facilitate Lake Erie shoreline improvement.
(REPORTED-AMENDED (No testimony); 4th Hearing-All testimony-Possible vote)

Before reporting the measure, the committee adopted an amendment from Sen. Michael Skindell (D-Lakewood). The senator said his fellow lead cosponsor, Sen. John Eklund (R-Chardon), has also signed off on the change, which ensures that if state property lies within the district, the required assessment will not be forced upon the state.

Government Oversight & Reform

HB 18

SPECIAL ELECTIONS (Pelanda, D., Retherford, W.) To eliminate the requirement of holding a special election to fill a vacancy in a party nomination for the office of representative to Congress under certain circumstances. (REPORTED-SUBSTITUTE; 2nd Hearing-All testimony-Possible amendments & vote)

A substitute version offered by chairman Sen. Bill Coley (R-Liberty Twp.) rolls another measure (SB 252) into the bill that allows local elected officials to serve on the board of a convention and visitors' bureau.

In written proponent testimony, Secretary of State Jon Husted said the original measure will save taxpayer dollars. He noted that a special congressional election in 2016 with just one candidate costed $340,000.

HB 312

POLITICAL SUBDIVISION SPENDING (Schuring, K., Greenspan, D.)
Regarding use of credit cards and debit cards by political subdivisions.
(REPORTED-SUBSTITUTE (No testimony); 4th Hearing-All testimony-Possible amendments & vote)

A substitute version of the bill offered by Sen. Matt Huffman (R-Lima) largely cleans up language in the bill and also continues a property tax abatement for the City of Lorain, Sen. Coley explained.

HB 34

PUBLIC NOTICES (Hambley, S., Ryan, S.) To authorize certain state agencies, local governments, and other boards, commissions, and officers to deliver certain notices by ordinary mail and electronically instead of by certified mail. (REPORTED-SUBSTITUTE (No testimony); 4th Hearing-All testimony-Possible amendments & vote)

Sen. Huffman offered an amendment accepted without objection to remove some sections pertaining to when electronic notices would not be allowed and to allow a recently elected public official to take public records training prior to taking office.

Another change allows a county prosecutor's office to represent port authorities, planning commissions and regional airport, Sen. Coley explained.

SB 202

OFFENDER RE-ENTRY (Bacon, K., O'Brien, S.) To require the Department of Rehabilitation and Correction to establish a reentry program for all offenders released from prison who it intends to have reside in a halfway house or similar facility but who are not accepted by any such facility; to require the Adult Parole Authority to establish maximum work-load and case-load standards for its parole and field officers and have enough trained officers to comply with the standards; to require that GPS monitoring used for offenders released from prison under such monitoring specify restrictions, including inclusionary zones and necessary exclusionary zones; to require the Department to establish system requirements for GPS monitoring of such offenders by the Department or third-party contract administrators; to require the Department to operate a statewide database for law enforcement use containing specified information about such offenders; to require that third-party administrators for GPS monitoring under a new contract with the Department provide and use a law enforcement-accessible crime scene correlation program; and to name the act's provisions the Reagan Tokes Law. (CONTINUED (See separate story); 3rd Hearing-Proponent)

SB 255

OCCUPATIONAL LICENSING (McColley, R.) To establish a statewide policy on occupational regulation, to require standing committees of the General Assembly to periodically review occupational licensing boards regarding their sunset, and to require the Legislative Service Commission to perform assessments of occupational licensing bills and state regulation of occupations. (REPORTED-SUBSTITUTE; 4th Hearing-All testimony-Possible amendments & vote)

A substitute version of the bill offered by Sen. Joe Uecker (R-Loveland) makes several changes, including adding factors to the list used in determining whether an occupational licensing board has demonstrated a public need. (Comp doc)

It also provides that occupational regulations that are created by adopting national standards used in at least 45 states are deemed to be narrowly tailored and the least restrictive.

In written opponent testimony, Jarrod Clabaugh, executive director of the Ohio Society of Association Executives, called for lawmakers to seek additional input on the bill.

John Graham, president and CEO of the Center for Association Leadership, called for the creation of a task force.

"We suggest that instead the legislature establish a task force to consider the problem of excessive occupational licensing and to develop ways to address that problem without weakening the protections to the public offered by governmental recognition of private certification programs," he wrote.

Subscribers Note: For full testimony see the committee's website under June 26.

Finance

HB 123 LENDING LAWS (Koehler, K., Ashford, M.) To modify the Short-Term Loan Act, to specify a minimum duration requirement for loans made under the Small Loan Law and Mortgage Loan Law, and to limit the authority of credit services organizations to broker extensions of credit for buyers. (CONTINUED (See separate story); 5th Hearing-All testimony-Possible vote)

Transportation, Commerce & Workforce

HB 347 ROAD NAMING (Kelly, B., Dever, J.) To designate a portion of I-71 in Hamilton County as the "Sonny L. Kim Memorial Highway." (REPORTED-SUBSTITUTE (No testimony); 3rd Hearing-All testimony-Possible amendments & vote)

Chairman Sen. Frank LaRose (R-Hudson) said the substitute version allows the legislation for to be used as a vehicle for the naming of multiple memorial stretches of highway honoring people killed in the line of duty.

SB 293 ADMINISTRATIVE REGULATIONS (Peterson, B., McColley, R.) To require agencies to reduce the number of regulatory restrictions. (REPORTED-SUBSTITUTE); 4th Hearing-All testimony-Possible amendments & vote)

The committee accepted a substitute offered by Sen. Rob McColley, (R-Napoleon), who said the updated measure would apply the mandate to cut regulations by 30% statewide "at more of a macro level than the micro level."

Sen. McColley said his version would require every head of a cabinet-level department and every statewide elected official to inventory all regulations associated with their departments, as well as the commissions or agencies under them, and apply the 30% reduction "in the aggregate." He said the change was needed because some individual agencies or commissions might not have room to cut the percentage of regulations required by the original legislation.

"There are many state agencies that are already running pretty lean and already have very few rules," he said.

The substitute version also would give the Joint Committee on Agency Rule Review the authority to approve or deny the cuts, he said.

Sen. Matt Dolan (R-Chagrin Falls) said he agrees with the goal but has concerns the legislature may be ceding too much authority under the proposal.

"We're asking (agencies) to get rid of regulations that are contrary to legislative intent," he said. "I would rather be the one to dictate what legislative intent is."

Sen. McColley said he thinks the substitute bill "actually strengthened the authority of JCARR," and therefore, the legislature.

The panel reported the bill along party lines after accepting the substitute version. Before accepting Sen. McColley's changes, the committee tabled a substitute bill offered by Sen. Charleta B. Tavares (D-Columbus) that she said would remove the requirement that regulations be cut by 30% across the board in the state. Her version instead would have instead required state agencies to cut regulatory restrictions until a reduction "deemed sufficient by the state agency in consultation with (JCARR) has been achieved," she said. She said the substitute version also would have prohibited agencies from removing regulations required by federal law, among other changes.

"What we're trying to do is enlist both JCARR and the agencies in identifying those regulations or statutes that should be removed ... so that we can make informed decisions," she said.

Ahead of the adoption of the substitute legislation, Greg Lawson, research fellow with the Buckeye Institute, said the state "desperately needs" the effort to cut unneeded regulations to boost the economy. He said the state's licensing requirements are more restrictive than most states.

"Requiring appropriate education and training for physicians, healthcare providers, pilots, and truck drivers helps safeguard the general public in our hospitals and on our roads and runways," he said. "But the same cannot be said with respect to auctioneers, travel guides, and hairdressers-all currently subject to Ohio's byzantine and overly restrictive licensing requirements."

Mr. Lawson said efforts to rein in regulations could lead to employers hiring more workers and employees earning more.

"Beyond occupational licensing reform, Ohio must also reexamine government mandates that interfere with market-pricing and make goods artificially more expensive for businesses," he said. "Such interference ultimately leads to slower job growth as businesses curtail hiring and wages in order to offset the artificially higher costs created by the mandates."

SB 308      ELEVATOR LAW (Uecker, J., Yuko, K.) To revise the Elevator Law.
(CONTINUED; 1st Hearing-Sponsor)

Sen. Joe Uecker (R-Loveland) said in sponsor testimony the measure, which has companion legislation (HB 236) in the House, would "modernize" the state's elevator laws. "Taking elevators is a regular occurrence in our day to day lives and malfunctions can cause serious injuries to riders. SB308 seeks to codify industry standards and set licensure qualifications to help ensure the safety of both elevator riders and workers," he said. He said the measure would update the state's definition for elevators and create an Elevator Safety Review Board, among other changes.

Sen. Kenny Yuko (D-Richmond Hts.), the measure's other primary sponsor, said the bill also establishes new licensing and insurance requirements for elevator contractors, inspectors and mechanics.

"Our goal is to ensure the safety for the public and for those who work and install elevators. The best way for us to ensure a high level of safety is to ensure that all elevators are installed and maintained by licensed professionals."

HCR 10 ANTI-SEMITISM (Thompson, A., Greenspan, D.) To condemn the Boycott, Divestment, and Sanctions movement and increasing incidents of anti-Semitism. (REPORTED-AMENDED; 5th Hearing-All testimony-Possible amendments & vote)

Chairman LaRose amended the bill with language condemning white nationalists and other hate groups.

Sen. Tavares offered a substitute resolution, which would have condemned attacks and discrimination against all minority groups by hate groups including white nationalists and neo-Nazis, and remove references to the boycott movement.

"We can't say people can't talk," she said. "That goes against who we are as a nation and a state."

The panel tabled her proposal, and Sen. Tavares subsequently cast the lone vote against reporting the measure.

Prior to the report, Connie Hammond, a member of United Methodists for Kairos Response and the Free Speech Coalition of Ohio, said the legislation unfairly conflates the Boycott, Divestment, Sanctions movement with anti-Semitism and could be seen as a form of censorship.

"The International BDS movement is not anti-Semitic," she said. "The call to BDS issued by 170 Palestinian civil society organizations asked the international community to stand for freedom, equality and justice."

Sen. LaRose said he rejects the idea that the measure constituted any kind of censorship.

"There's nothing in here that restricts speech," he said.

Education

HB 87 COMMUNITY SCHOOLS (Roegner, K.) Regarding public moneys returned to the state as a result of a finding for recovery issued pursuant to an audit of a community school. (REPORTED-AMENDED (See separate story); 4th Hearing-All testimony-Possible amendments & vote)

SB 34 ACADEMIC YEAR (Manning, G.) To generally require public and chartered nonpublic schools to open for instruction after Labor Day. (Scheduled but not heard); 7th Hearing-All testimony-Possible vote)

17 S. High St., Suite 630
Columbus Ohio 43215
Phone: 614-221-1992 | Fax: 614-221-7844 | Email: gongwer@gongwer-oh.com

Scott Miller, President | Kent Cahlander, Editor | Mike Livingston, Dustin Ensinger, Jon Reed, Tom Gallick, Staff Writers

Click the  after a bill number to create a saved search and email alert for that bill.

© 2018, Gongwer News Service, Inc. Reproduction of this publication in whole or in part without the express permission of the publisher is in violation of the federal Copyright Law (17 USC 101 et seq.) as is retransmission by facsimile or any other electronic means, including electronic mail.

Daily Activity Planner for Thursday, June 28

Legislative Committees

Joint Medicaid Oversight Committee (Committee Record) (Chr. Huffman, S., 466-7584), Rm. 313, 9 a.m.

- Behavioral Health Redesign Update from Barbara Sears, Director, Ohio Department of Medicaid and Emily Higgins, Chair, OAHF Behavioral Health Subcommittee
  - PBM Report from Barbara Sears, Director, Ohio Department of Medicaid
- Joint Ohio College Affordability Committee (Chr. Wilson, S., 466-9739), Senate Finance Hearing Rm., 10 a.m.
- Overview of strategies for preserving and improving the affordability of a college education in Ohio by the Ohio Association of Community Colleges and the Inter-University Council of Ohio

Joint Education Oversight Committee (Committee Record) (Chr. Manning, G., 466-8150), North Hearing Rm., 11:30 a.m.

- Presentations by Connie Shriver (Coordinator of Career & Academic Readiness Education at the Mid-East Career and Technology Centers), Mary Murphy (Manager of Adult Success Initiatives at Lorain Community College), and Greg Harp (Vice President of Graduation Alliance) on Adult Graduation Pathways
- Presentations by the Ohio Department of Education and the Ohio Department of Job and Family Services on Early Childhood Programs
- Update on progress of other research projects (tentative)

Agency Calendar

Civil Rights Commission, Lobby Mtg. Rm., 1st Fl., 30 E. Broad St., Columbus, 9:30 a.m.

Elections Commission, Rm. East B., 31st Fl., 77 S. High St., Columbus, 10 a.m.

Business Gateway Steering Committee, 30 East Broad Street, Room 2925, Columbus, 1 p.m.

Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, 180 E. Broad St., 11th Fl., Columbus, 1:30 p.m.

Event Planner

Rep. Brian Hill (R-Zanesville) golf outing fundraiser, Eaglesticks Golf Club, 2655 Maysville Pike, Zanesville, 9:30 a.m., (9:30 am registration; 10:30 am shotgun start; 4:30 pm barbeque. Brian D. Hill for State Representative)

Rep. Stephanie Howse (D-Cleveland) & Rep. Janine Boyd (D-Cleveland Hts.) fundraiser, Lake Affect Studios, 1615 East 25th St., Cleveland, 5:30 p.m., ($500, $150, $75, $35 to Friends of Stephanie Howse, Friends of Janine Boyd)

17 S. High St., Suite 630
Columbus Ohio 43215

Phone: 614-221-1992 | Fax: 614-221-7844 | Email: gongwer@gongwer-oh.com

Scott Miller, President | Kent Cahlander, Editor | Mike Livingston, Dustin Ensinger, Jon Reed, Tom Gallick, Staff Writers

© 2018, Gongwer News Service, Inc. Reproduction of this publication in whole or in part without the express permission of the publisher is in violation of the federal Copyright Law (17 USC 101 et seq.) as is retransmission by facsimile or any other electronic means, including electronic mail.

Volume #87, Report #124 -- Wednesday, June 27, 2018

Lake Erie, Voting Machine Funding Among Bills Headed To Governor

A busy day of lawmaking Wednesday saw a wide variety of bills sent to Gov. John Kasich's desk, including long-sought funding for new voting equipment and money to fight harmful algal blooms in Lake Erie.

In total, the two chambers sent 19 bills to the governor, including a pair dealing with oversight for charter schools. (See separate story)

The voting machine measure (SB 135) appropriates $114.5 million to buy new equipment. The House had previously passed it, and the Senate voted 31-1 in to concur with a House amendment that updated the fiscal year in the language.

"We've had machines that in many cases are 15 years old," sponsor Sen. Frank LaRose (R-Hudson) said. "Our county boards of elections and folks all throughout Ohio are very excited about the prospect that maybe sometime this winter or next spring there may be a truck showing up with new voting machines."

"It's time that we got this done," Sen. LaRose, the Republican nominee for secretary of state, continued. "This is something we've been talking about for a while."

Rep. Kathleen Clyde (D-Kent), the Democratic nominee for secretary of state, touted the passage in a statement.

"Ohio has been in desperate need of voting system upgrades to meet the elections cybersecurity challenges we face today and to modernize our aging machinery," she said. "I am happy to see our boards of elections finally getting the resources they deserve after years of state budget cuts to local government funds. I was happy to support this bipartisan bill and will continue to ensure our counties are prepared for every elections challenge."

The Lake Erie measure (SB 299) began as a way to identify and financially support projects to combat harmful algal blooms. Among other provisions, it appropriates $3.5 million in General Revenue Fund dollars to the Department of Agriculture for soil and water conservation districts and $20 million to the Soil and Water Phosphorus Program.

The measure became a vehicle for spending-related amendments in the House Finance Committee Tuesday, but it collected only a few changes, making it more of a "modest decorated wreath" than a true "Christmas tree bill," as explained Wednesday by sponsoring Sen. Randy Gardner (R-Bowling Green).

Those amendments included $7.1 million in disaster funding for 18 counties that sustained widespread flooding earlier this year. Other House-added items include $1 million to boost broadband expansion efforts and $1.5 million for the National Guard Scholarship. (See Gongwer Ohio Report, June 26, 2018)

It cleared the lower chamber in a unanimous vote after picking up an LSC technical amendment on the floor. The Senate then followed suit, approving the item 29-0.

Rep. Steven Ardent (R-Port Clinton), who sponsored companion legislation in the House, said the measure will go a long way toward reducing algal blooms in Lake Erie.

"This particular bill is really something that is extremely critical," he said.

Sen. Gardner called the bill a "classic example" of legislation in action given its bipartisan nature.

Both chambers accepted a conference report on a measure (SB 188) to toughen penalties for fentanyl traffickers.

The House approved the conference committee report 59-10, with Rep. Nathan Manning (R-N. Ridgeville) calling it a "very small change" in that it shifts the burden of proof to the prosecution to show a defendant knew of a fentanyl-related compound in his or her possession.

In the Senate, the vote was 31-1, with Sen. Michael Skindell (D-Lakewood) the only member opposed.

Sen. Skindell said the proposal doesn't just target traffickers, but also affects drug users. He also voiced concerns with how the state considers an aggregate amount of fentanyl, even if a little bit of fentanyl is mixed with a much greater amount of another drug.

"It not only throws the drug traffickers in jail, it throws the small users in jail," he said.

Sen. LaRose, the measure's sponsor, said the user would need to have reason to know it contained fentanyl to be charged.

"We did what we could to make sure that we truly are ensnaring the traffickers and not the addicts," he said. "We rely on reasonable prosecutors. We rely on reasonable judges and juries to do the work that they do."

A proposal initially designed to eliminate the need for a special election when only one candidate is on the ballot (HB 188) cleared the Senate unanimously but faced more opposition later in the evening when the House voted 67-22 to concur.

The dissent hinged on a provision added earlier in the day that allows some local elected officials to serve on the board of trustees of a convention and visitors' bureau. (See committee listing)

Rep. John Becker (R-Union Twp.) said the measure goes against an advisory opinion issued by the attorney general's office.

"The reason for that conflict is quite obvious," he said.

Rep. Dorothy Pelanda (R-Marysville) said if a conflict does exist, the public official can abstain from voting on a matter.

The bill also received opposition from Rep. Tom Brinkman (R-Cincinnati) who said in light of recent event, lawmakers should do all they can to avoid any hint of impropriety.

A measure (SB 66) to provide judges with more discretion in criminal sentencing also cleared both chambers.

Rep. Nathan Manning (R-N. Ridgeville), who ushered the bill through the House Criminal Justice Committee, called the measure a smart on crime bill. He also touted several of the bill's provisions, including one that allows for expanded record sealing.

"This is something that will get people back to work," he said.

Before voting 84-2 to move the bill back to the upper chamber, an amendment offered by Rep. Bill Seitz (R-Cincinnati) was accepted to make it clear that the number of felonies that can be sealed is five with an unlimited number of misdemeanors.

Rep. Jay Edwards (R-Nelsonville) and Rep. Tim Schaffer (R-Lancaster) cast the lone "no" votes.

The Senate voted 29-0 to approve the issue, with Sen. John Eklund (R-Chardon) and Sen. Charleta B. Tavares (D-Columbus) both urging support.

Sen. Eklund specifically pointed out a change that prevents those who have more than five felonies from pursuing the sealing of records. Although it runs somewhat contrary to the Senate's effort, Sen. Eklund said the change such a person would pursue that round "is slim."

"Notwithstanding that, I certainly think the amendments are salutary...and we've come to something that will make Ohio a more just place to live," he said.

Sen. Tavares too said she believes "the integrity and the strength of the legislation remains. We are trying to do what's fair and what's right and we really believe rehabilitation should be taken seriously."

Legislation (HB 318) initially designed to deal with qualification for school resource officers picked up several changes during its journey through the legislature, including having a measure (SB 246) prohibiting expulsion and suspension of young students rolled into it while in the upper chamber.

"Suspending a six-year-old child does absolutely nothing to help them," Rep. Sarah LaTourette (R-Chagrin Falls).

It cleared the lower chamber in a 69-20 vote, with Rep. Ron Hood (R-Ashville) speaking in opposition.

"This did not get vetted in committee the way it properly needed," he said.

A bill to add prongs to the Joint Committee on Agency Rule Review process cleared the House in a 73-19 vote after Rep. Dan Ramos (R-Lorain) raised concerns that the changes could make the body more partisan.

"It is not a committee where partisanship has come in to play," he said.

Other items sent to the governor included legislation to:

- Allow restaurants to let patrons to have dogs on outdoor patios (HB 263).
- Regulate credit and debit card use by political subdivisions and make other changes to how finances are handled by local governments (HB 312).
- Create a six-month pilot program to reduce driver's license reinstatement fees (HB 336).
- Designate roads after first responders and military personnel killed in the line of duty (HB 347).
- Waive the concealed carry license fee for active members of the armed forces and retired and honorably discharged veterans (SB 81).
- Require drivers to move over when passing waste collection vehicles (SB 127).
- Provide a legal safe harbor for companies that enact cybersecurity protections (SB 220).
- Boost the Joint Committee on Agency Rule Review's authority to clamp down on informal rulemaking among executive agencies (SB 221).
- Create more transparency in regional councils of government (SB 239).

- Waive the concealed carry license fee for active members of the armed services and retired and honorably discharged veterans (SB 81).
- Create an enhanced penalty for distracted driving (HB 95).
- Overhaul the law relating to embalmers, crematory operators and cemeteries (HB 168).

Bills On Religion, Pharmacy Benefit Managers Among Dozens Backed By House

Legislation cited as "protecting" the religious beliefs of pastors and students, and a bill to limit charges from pharmacy benefit managers were among the slew of proposals receiving the House's stamp of approval during a marathon session Wednesday.

Also among the 31 measures passed in the first part of the session were a number of Senate bills that now advance to the desk of Gov. John Kasich thanks to Senate concurrence votes later in the day. The chamber also approved a conference committee report on a measure to boost penalties for drug trafficking and possession. (See separate story)

Regarding the religion-related legislation, both measures received substantial pushback from Democrats who contend they will open the door for discrimination.

The so-called Pastor Protection Act (HB 36) shields faith leaders, societies and others from civil repercussions should they refuse to solemnize marriage outside their beliefs. The plan picked up a floor amendment from Rep. Bill Seitz (R-Cincinnati) providing that in the event of a conflict between the bill and current public accommodations law, the legislation will take precedent.

Rep. Dan Ramos (D-Lorain) made a motion to lay the amendment on the table, which was turned back by Republicans. Rep. Janine Boyd (D-Cleveland Hts.) also moved to amend the item, but her motion was ruled out of order following the adoption of Rep. Seitz's change.

Sponsor Rep. Nino Vitale (R-Urbana) reiterated his belief the legislation does not target LGBTQ citizens. He painted it as an attempt to relieve the "tension" between contrasting beliefs and assure faith leaders existing protections under the Constitution will remain.

"This is not a sword," Rep. Vitale said. "This is intended to be a shield and protect everyone's rights."

But Rep. Boyd argued the legislation's scope is too broad in that it does not limit its provisions to religious groups or pastors.

"It is in essence saying that proprietors of property or services that rent to the public at large can turn away members of the LGBTQ community," she said, before the chamber endorsed the measure 59-29.

Similarly, the chamber voted 62-20 for a plan (HB 428) from Rep. Sarah LaTourette (R-Chagrin Falls) and Rep. Tim Ginter (R-Salem) that states students should be permitted to conduct religious expression and activities in schools in the same manner students may conduct secular activity or expression.

Rep. Kent Smith (D-Euclid) moved to amend the bill with language he said would label head coverings as permitted religious attire.

Rep. Ginter, however, voiced reservations, saying the change would open up "a pathway that is not the intention of this bill. There is no specificity in this bill toward any religion and that is purposeful." The GOP-dominated chamber as a whole agreed, turning away the proposed tweak 56-32.

Several Democrats spoke against the bill, including Rep. Ramos, who said the legislation is so broad it would permit shirts with messaging stating LGBTQ youth will go to hell or that Jesus is not real, or targeting specific faiths. To that, Rep. Ginter replied the school still has the authority to ban obscene or distracting clothing or activities.

Among other bills, the pharmacy legislation (HB 479) - from Rep. Scott Lipps (R-Franklin) and Rep. Thomas West (D-Canton) - requires patients to be informed of affordable prescription options. And it limits PBMs, health plans or other administrators to charging no more than what an individual would pay for a drug were it purchased without coverage.

"For too long, PBMs have used predatory practices to target consumers and independent pharmacies," Rep. Lipps said. "I am proud Ohio is taking a lead role to end these deceiving practices, while improving transparency and lowering out-of-pocket drug costs."

Added Rep. West: "Today is a happy day here in Ohio because lower prescription drug prices are on their way."

Several pieces of legislation pertained to laws related to sexual activity, including proposals prohibiting sexting by persons under 19 years of age (HB 355) and the nonconsensual dissemination of private sexual images (HB 497) or "revenge porn." Those measures passed unanimously - 85-0 and 81-0 respectively.

So too did legislation (HB 92) requiring an offender who knowingly commits public indecency to be viewed by a minor for the purpose of sexual gratification to register as a Tier 1 sex offender if ordered by a judge (80-0).

Legislation (HB 511) establishing 18 as the age at which a person can marry was also approved with wide support (78-0). The proposal provides an exception for a 17-year-old with the consent of a juvenile court if the other spouse-to-be is not more than four years older.

"We do not allow minors to vote, to buy cigarettes or alcohol, to rent cars or apartments or to enter into other contracts yet we allow them to (marry) - one of the most important and impactful decisions of their young lives," said Rep. Laura Lanese (R-Grove City), lead cosponsor along with Rep. John Rogers (D-Mentor-on-the-Lake).

Democrats also attempted to amend a plan (HB 502) from Rep. Marlene Anielski (R-Walton Hills) that requires educators to take in-service training on youth suicide prevention every two years. Rep. Catherine Ingram (D-Cincinnati) sought to expand the bill to cover charter schools but the amendment was tabled 44-39 before the bill advanced 82-0.

The chamber also approved legislation:

- Granting civil immunity to medical providers and emergency medical technicians operating after a disaster (HB 7).
- Prohibiting certain terms from appearing in health care contracts between vision care providers and a contracting entity and establishing new disclosure requirements (HB 156).
- Establishing a regional kinship care navigator program (HB 126).
- Licensing home inspectors via the proposed Home Inspector Board (HB 211).
- Designating the month of April as "Respect Your Date Month" and requiring higher education institutions to adopt a policy regarding dating and domestic violence (HB 240). The chamber approved an emergency clause 75-6.
- Including search and rescue dogs and horses in the prohibition against assaulting or harassing a police animal (HB 349).
- Prohibiting consumer credit reporting agencies from charging a fee to freeze a consumer's credit report or to remove or temporarily lift a freeze (HB 386).
- Exempting police body camera and dashboard footage from public record laws under certain circumstances, such as if it depicts the identity of a child or the victim of a sex crime (HB 425).
- Authorizing a nonrefundable insurance company tax credit for contributing capital for transformational mixed use development construction (HB 469).
- Requiring the Department of Agriculture to regulate multi-parcel auctions (HB 480).

- Enacting a myriad of township changes including: increasing the obligations a board of township trustees may authorize its officers to incur, permitting a township to require reimbursement of emergency services levy revenue foregone because of the creation of a tax increment financing incentive district, and more (HB 500).
- Requiring the development and adoption of a new framework for teacher and administrator evaluations (HB 540).
- Permitting county prosecutors to enter into contract with regional airport authorities, port authorities or a regional planning commission as a legal adviser (HB 543).
- Requiring the Public Employees Retirement System Board to grant a full year of service credit to qualified members employed as nonteaching school employees of a county board of development disabilities (HB 572).
- Revising the probate process through various changes including disqualifying a person convicted of involuntary manslaughter from benefiting from the victim's death (HB 595).

Senate Passes Measures Focused On Reducing Regulations

A pair of legislative efforts to rein in regulations cleared the Senate Wednesday, with Republicans saying the proposals would make life easier for businesses.

Democrats said the two measures were arbitrary efforts to reduce agency rules that don't get at the issue of targeting unneeded regulations and could reduce important oversight.

One of the items (SB 293) cleared the Senate Transportation, Commerce and Workforce Committee earlier Wednesday after the panel replaced it with a substitute version to apply the regulation-cutting mandate more broadly across state departments, rather than to individual agencies. (See committee listing)

As a result of the changes, the legislation would require departments overall to cut regulations by 30%, sponsor Sen. Bob Peterson (R-Sabina) said. It would also create a website where individuals and businesses can report burdensome regulations to the Joint Committee on Agency Rule Review.

"We need to know how many restrictions we have, we need to systematically review them, and we need to revisit the rules that are unnecessary," Sen. Peterson said.

Majority Republicans tabled an amendment from Sen. Charleta B. Tavares (D-Columbus) that would have eliminated the 30% reduction requirement.

"This amendment calls for them to reduce restrictions without placing the arbitrary requirement," she said. "This amendment calls on state agencies to inventory what regulations exist."

Sen. Peterson said the amendment was unnecessary because JCARR can already grant departments exemptions for certain rules.

Lawmakers can also work to reduce regulations by avoiding situations where legislation leaves the details to be sorted out by agencies, said Sen. Lou Terhar (R-Cincinnati).

"The real issue here is how many things do we and our predecessors punt on and let it go to an agency rather than making a decision," he said.

Sometimes that's appropriate, said Sen. John Eklund (R-Chardon).

"Sometimes it's an acknowledgement or a willingness to acknowledge that there are experts in the administration of the government" with more expertise than lawmakers, he said.

The measure passed along party lines.

The other effort targeting regulations (SB 255) focused on occupational licensing. Sponsor Sen. Rob McColley (R-Napoleon) said it would create a process to review the state's occupational licensing requirements every five years.

"Frankly it's costing Ohioans the ability to earn a living and it's costing Ohioans the opportunity to contribute to our economy," he said of excessive licensing requirements.

Sen. Joe Schiavoni (D-Boardman) said lawmakers should consider issues with occupational licenses and fix them rather than creating a complicated process to routinely review the need for them.

Senate President Larry Obhof (R-Medina) said he thought the government has gotten "too big, too unwieldy."

"Too much of our authority has been usurped or given away over the years by legislators who thought it was easier to punt rulemaking authority," he said.

The measure passed 24-8.

The chamber unanimously passed a measure (SB 119), known as Daniel's Law, intended to ensure patients using naltrexone, a medication-assisted treatment also known as Vivitrol, can get an emergency dose from a pharmacy in certain emergency situations.

"When in a pinch, patients will have access to every pharmacy in the state of Ohio to act as a trampoline back into the system when the system fails," sponsor Sen. Bob Hackett (R-London) said.

Also advancing in the chamber were measures to:

- Provide a definition for an insurance rating agency (SB 273).
- Modify controlled substances laws with the Board of Pharmacy, including placing the list of controlled substances in rule rather than statute (SB 229).
- Urge Congress to support the creation of the Appalachian storage hub (SCR 21).
- Call on Congress to end certain mandates and emphasize the importance of federalism and the 10th Amendment (SCR 23), which passed 25-7.

Bills Amended To Enhance Online School Oversight Head To Governor

The House and Senate on Wednesday approved separate measures that were amended this week to include multiple e-school reforms and sent them to Gov. John Kasich for his signature.

While Rep. Keith Faber (R-Celina) and Rep. Bill Reineke (R-Tiffin) introduced legislation (HB 707) on the topic last week, lawmakers quickly sought alternative pathways to get some of its provisions passed sooner rather than later. The actions by the chambers achieve a goal set Speaker Ryan Smith (R-Bidwell) of pushing forward with legislation aimed at improving the state's online schools ahead of summer recess. (See Gongwer Ohio Report, June 25, 2018)

Sen. Peggy Lehner (R-Kettering), chairwoman of the Senate Education Committee said lawmakers from both chambers came to an agreement ahead of Wednesday's session that certain portions from the measure would be split among a bill (HB 87) under consideration in the Senate and another (SB 216) under consideration in the House.

"You really have to look at these two bills together," she said.

The original intent of HB 87 was to clarify that funding must be returned to local school districts when an audit of a charter school leads to a finding for recovery, while SB216 is an overhaul measure that makes dozens of changes to the state's K-12 education system.

The upper chamber passed HB 87 by a vote of 30-2 with Sen. Joe Schiavoni (D-Boardman) and Sen. Michael Skindell (D-Lakewood) voting in opposition. The House concurred in Senate amendments by a vote of 70-22.

The Senate Education Committee earlier in the day amended HB 87 to create a "safe harbor" for schools that grew by 20% from taking in former Electronic Classroom of Tomorrow students from certain accountability measures, including closure. The House Education & Career Readiness Committee on Tuesday accepted a similar amendment to SB 216 that set the threshold at for the threshold for the safe harbor at 10%. (See Gongwer Ohio Report, June 26, 2018)

Sen. Schiavoni said he cast his vote against the measure because the safe harbor provision could shield poorly performing schools from accountability.

"My concern is that by putting an amendment like this in the bill we might be creating another ECOT," he said.

Sen. Lehner said another amendment passed in the Senate committee clarifies that the safe harbor will not protect schools that would have faced closure before considering the performance of students taken in from the now-shuttered e-school.

"We are not excusing bad performance of any school," she said.

Sen. Lehner said another Senate amendment to HB 87 dealing with e-schools would require the superintendent of public instruction to set guidelines for activity-tracking software to be used by online charter schools.

Another amendment "would remove a significant conflict of interest" regarding the state auditor's office and payments by online schools, she said.

"Currently, amounts payable may be reduced according to policies determined both by the superintendent of public instruction and the auditor of state," she said. "This amendment will change the statute to require the (superintendent) to establish these policies in consultation with the (auditor) instead, so that the auditor is not put in a position to establish policies they may later audit."

Sen. Lehner said other amendments adopted by her committee that are not focused on e-schools would:

- Give school districts an additional year to put a substitute levy on the ballot.
- Clarify that only a superintendent or school board president can sign contracts and other employment documents related to the district's treasurer or his or her family members.
- Allow school districts and other public employers to "collectively contract for health clinic services."

The committee also adopted an amendment Sen. Randy Gardner (R-Bowling Green) said would prohibit the state from requiring local school boards to submit five-year financial forecast before Nov. 30. The provision mirrors one added to SB 216 in committee Tuesday.

The House passed SB 216 by a vote of 60-32 after accepting two amendments. The Senate concurred in House amendments by a vote of 28-1 with Sen. Edna Brown (D-Toledo) in opposition.

Rep. Andy Brenner's (R-Powell) amendment required a study of school takeovers be sent to the Joint Education Oversight Committee for further review after its completion. The House accepted the amendment by a vote of 62-28.

A floor amendment offered by Rep. Jeff Rezabek (R-Clayton) and accepted by a vote of 61-28 stripped a provision from the law that would have revised the state's standard for what an "excessively absent" student is by excluding excused absences. Under existing law, a student is "excessively absent" when they miss 38 or more hours in a month or 65 or more hours in a year whether the absences were excused or not.

The House Education & Career Readiness Committee on Tuesday reported SB 216 along party lines after accepting several amendments, including one with multiple provisions aimed at e-school reform. The amendment was inspired by HB 707, which in turn took cues from recommendations offered by Auditor Dave Yost.

The amendment would require the superintendent of public instruction to craft recommended definitions for the state to adopt regarding e-school enrollment and participation and create a committee to study the potential of student-performance, among other provisions.

Sen. Lehner said she views the creation of the committee as one of the most important provisions in the two pieces of legislation.

"The study committee is the most important part of that because that's going to (lead to) more substantive long-term reforms than some of the more minor (provisions)," she said.

Rep. Teresa Fedor (D-Toledo) said the online school provisions the committee added to SB 216 need more vetting, but were being rushed into law to provide "political cover" for Republicans in the wake of the closure of the ECOT. After ECOT shut its doors in January, Auditor Yost referred his office's audit of the school for potential prosecution. (See Gongwer Ohio Report, May 10, 2018)

"I'm sorry to say this bill has been hijacked," she said.

She was gavelled out of order by Speaker Smith when she likened ECOT's funding, which is the subject of clawback efforts by the state, to an ATM for Republican campaign committees.

The panel and later the full Senate rejected an amendment offered by Sen. Schiavoni that would have set additional guidelines for e-schools. He said the change would have required an in-person parent teacher conference to be scheduled if a student doesn't log in for 10 days and the addition of disclaimers on e-school advertisements noting if they were paid for with public money and what grades the school had received from the state, among other changes.

"We have to have additional accountability and transparency," he said.

Sen. Lehner opposed the amendment but said she agreed with Sen. Schiavoni that the state's work on updating standards for online schools is not done.

The Senate also tabled an amendment offered by Sen. Schiavoni that would have extended eased graduation requirements put in place for the class of 2018 for the next two school years. The House Education & Career Readiness Committee rejected an amendment with the same effect offered by Rep. Tavia Galonski (D-Akron) Tuesday.

Before passing SB 216, the House tabled an amendment offered by Rep. Galonski that would have appointed a special investigator in the ECOT case.

Rep. Brenner said he viewed the amendment as premature because ECOT still has an appeal before the Ohio Supreme Court related to purported overpayments the State Board of Education voted to claw back from the school, leading to its closure.

Democrats later ripped majority Republicans for refusing to add additional accountability provisions to the bill, saying it gives a "free pass to Ohio's out-of-control charter schools" and elected officials.

"This is a politically motivated bill to give the same GOP politicians who used ECOT and charter school sponsors to bankroll their campaigns a free pass on taking responsibility for the mess they created," Rep. Galonski said.

Sen. Matt Huffman (R-Lima), SB 216's primary sponsor, said crafting and passing the substantial bill involved a lot of give and take among lawmakers and interested parties.

He listed the House's changes, saying he did not agree with all of them but that the bill retains the goal that superintendents had when they suggested the package to him several months ago - that is, eliminating unnecessary and burdensome regulations.

"This is a product of about 15 months-worth of work with a lot of good things in it," he said.

State Auditor Dave Yost issued a statement Wednesday evening welcoming passage of the measures.

"The legislation approved by the General Assembly today addresses some of the weaknesses my office has pointed out for years that limited the state's ability to demand full accountability from online schools and operators," he said. "While we were not successful in gaining passage of all reforms we believe are needed, these changes will make a significant difference."

Senate Panel Delays Vote On Energy Standards, Wind Setback Bill

A Senate committee Wednesday held off on a potential vote on controversial legislation to lower the renewable and energy efficiency standards, with lead negotiators telling interested parties they are "very close" to a final product.

The closely-watched measure (HB 114) was scheduled for its eighth hearing before the Senate Energy & Natural Resources and marked for possible amendments and a vote.

But the proposal was ultimately not heard, with Chairman Sen. Troy Balderson (R-Zanesville) and Sen. Bill Beagle (R-Tipp City) instead briefing stakeholders in attendance of their progress on the bill and promising "the bill's not dead."

"It's closer (to passing) than it's been for a while," Chairman Sen. Troy Balderson (R-Zanesville) said in an interview.

The measure began as a House effort to render the standards voluntary and expand the mercantile opt-out. That followed Gov. John Kasich's 2016 veto of a similar, but less far-reaching measure (HB554, 131st General Assembly).

Senators in May then accepted a substitute version that restored the mandatory nature of the standards, although it still lowers the renewable standards to 8.5% by 2022 instead of current law's 12.5% by 2026 and the efficiency standards to 17.2% by 2026 instead of the current 22.2% by 2027. It also loosens wind setback restrictions that advocates accused of stifling the industry - a prospect House leaders have expressed reluctant to accept in the past. (See Gongwer Ohio Report, May 16, 2018)

More changes are likely, as the lawmakers court support within their caucus and among stakeholders. Sen. Beagle said they're still sorting through feedback following the most recent changes - including those related to the mercantile opt-out, the wind setbacks and energy efficiency benchmarks.

"At this point, anytime you amend something everything's kind of tight so if we move a little bit here we need to understand what the ramifications are over there and that's just taking time," Sen. Beagle said. "We want to make sure we get this right. It's been an issue we've been talking about for a long time and it's been in the chamber a while. We'd rather take some time to make sure we get the best bill we can before we send it over to the House."

Sen. Balderson said talks continue with the Kasich administration over the renewable standards proposed by the current bill.

"The administration is aware of our number," he said. "While they are not satisfied with it, we continue to have positive discussions on a number of other areas we can all agree upon."

A Kasich spokesman declined to comment on the pending legislation.

At the same time, both said they haven't gone out of their way to keep their House counterparts in the loop on discussions. Although the legislation in its current form is likely to face a steeper climb in the lower chamber, the senators said their principal concern is mustering up enough support within their own caucus.

"We're really kind of focused on making sure we have enough votes in the Senate," Sen. Beagle said. "We're really focused on getting a product we can get out hopefully on a bipartisan basis and that's tough enough."

Added Sen. Balderson: "Once we have our numbers here that we need in the Senate, then we'll focus on the House. They're aware...so there's no reason for (Sen. Beagle) and I to be sitting down in front of them."

Proposed Regulations Inspired By State Fair Ride Death Get Initial Hearing

Nearly a year removed from a thrill ride breakdown at the Ohio State Fair that killed 18-year-old Tyler Jarrell and injured several others, the House took up legislation to tighten regulation of inspections overseen by the Department of Agriculture.

Sponsored by Rep. John Patterson (D-Jefferson) and Rep. Jim Hughes (R-Columbus), the measure would revise current safety inspection standards, define the qualifications for inspectors, and require owners to maintain current records for all their amusement rides.

Rep. Patterson told members of the House Agriculture & Rural Development Committee that the measure, while inspired by the tragedy, is about looking ahead "to better ensure the safety of Ohioans for years to come by revisiting current legislation to provide a more robust approach to ride safety and inspection."

The sponsors pointed out that while the rides have become more prevalent, diverse and complicated over the years, the number of Ohio inspectors has remained fairly constant.

Rep. Hughes said the bill focuses on ride inspections in two ways.

"First, it expands the Director of Agriculture's rule-making authority regarding amusement ride safety. Specifically, it requires a minimum number of inspectors be assigned to inspect a ride, ensuring that number is reasonable and adequate given the size, complexity, and nature of the ride," he said. "Second, it requires the Director to adopt the standards of the American Society for Testing and Materials, or any other equivalent standards, in whole. Current law does not require the Director to adopt these standards, neither in whole or part."

The measure also addresses the qualifications for newly hired inspectors, Rep. Hughes said. "The bill requires the Director, when employing a new Chief Inspector or an additional amusement ride inspector, to give preference to individuals who are registered professional engineers. If no registered professional engineer seeks employment as an inspector, the Director must give preference to individuals who have been issued a level one or higher inspector certification from the National Association of Amusement Ride Safety Officials."

Those restrictions would be forward-looking and not impact those currently employed as inspectors, he said.

The bill would retain the current law requirement that the ODA director provide necessary training for inspectors to administer and enforce the laws governing amusement ride safety. "Similarly, the bill still allows the director to appoint or contract other persons to perform inspections of amusement rides, provided that they meet the qualifications for inspectors and are not owners, or employees of any amusement ride subject to inspection," Rep. Hughes said.

The record-keeping mandates in the bill would apply to electronic manuals for each amusement ride that is inspected in Ohio, if available, and the ODA director may require the owner to also include "detailed written descriptions or photographs of all maintenance, repairs, and inspections in the record," Mr. Hughes said.

"Finally, HB631 prohibits ride owners from knowingly failing to keep a record or knowingly failing to make records available to the Department or ride inspector, and it imposes a fine of $100 to $500 for a violation of the prohibition. While current law requires an owner to keep records and make them available for inspection, it does not establish a specific penalty for failure to do so," he concluded.

Asked about the extent of the potential fines, Rep. Patterson said they could apply to every ride that's out of compliance or it could depend on the circumstances. He said the sponsors wanted to leave some discretion for ODA to develop more specific guidelines under the bill.

"We don't want the money," Rep. Hughes added. "We want them to be safe."

Rep. Kyle Koehler (R-Springfield) questioned whether the provisions would have prevented last year's failure of the Fire Ball ride.

"It definitely would have helped the situation, but what we're trying to do is prevent another occurrence of this in the future," Mr. Patterson said.

The sponsor told Rep. James Hoops (R-Napoleon) that the requirements would apply to all rides operated in the state, including those at county fairs and other events.

Chairman Rep. Brian Hill (R-Zanesville) raised the issue of funding for additional inspection duties and also noted that a review of the incident did not result in any punitive actions against state inspectors.

Rep. Jack Cera (D-Bellaire) said consideration must be given to ODA's budget if the bill is enacted.

Mr. Hughes said there have been communications with the agency regarding the proposals and further meetings with the agency are planned.

ODA spokesman Mark Bruce said the agency typically doesn't comment on pending legislation.

"The department has had discussions about possible ways to strengthen Ohio's already robust amusement ride safety program," he said in an email.

High Court Strikes Down 'Agency Fees' For Public Sector Unions; Kennedy Announces Retirement

Organized labor was dealt a major blow Wednesday by the U.S. Supreme Court.

In a highly anticipated decision, the court in a 5-4 ruling held that non-union workers cannot be forced to pay fees to public sector unions.

Writing for the majority, Justice Samuel Alito found the requirement that non-union employees pay "agency fees" to the collective bargaining unit runs afoul of free speech protections.

"This procedure violates the First Amendment and cannot continue," Justice Alito wrote. "Neither an agency fee nor any other payment to the union may be deducted from a nonmember's wages, nor may any other attempt be made to collect such a payment, unless the employee affirmatively consents to pay. By agreeing to pay, nonmembers are waiving their First Amendment rights, and such a waiver cannot be presumed."

He was joined in his opinion by Chief Justice John Roberts, Justice Clarence Thomas, Justice Neil Gorsuch and Justice Anthony Kennedy, considered the swing vote on the court and who announced his retirement Wednesday.

The decision overturns a 1977 high court ruling that upheld the practice as constitutional.

"We recognize that the loss of payments from nonmembers may cause unions to experience unpleasant transition costs in the short term, and may require unions to make adjustments in order to attract and retain members. But we must weigh these disadvantages against the considerable windfall that unions have received under Abood for the past 41 years," Justice Alito wrote.

"It is hard to estimate how many billions of dollars have been taken from nonmembers and transferred to public-sector unions in violation of the First Amendment. Those unconstitutional exactions cannot be allowed to continue indefinitely."

Statements for and against the decision poured in swiftly.

Ohio Republicans were largely silent on the ruling. However, the Buckeye Institute cheered the decision.

"The Supreme Court today in Janus v. AFSCME announced its basic rule of human decency and common sense: consent matters - and hardworking public-sector workers can no longer be forced to pay for political speech or other activities without their affirmative consent," President and CEO Robert Alt said in a statement.

The American Legislative Exchange Council also hailed the ruling.

"Today's Janus decision overturns a precedent set 41 years ago. This will allow workers to keep their pay, they will no longer be forced to pay fees that support a union's collective bargaining efforts and administrative work," said Robert Ordway, Director of the Commerce, Insurance and Economic Development Task Force at ALEC.

The court's liberal justices dissented in the decision, with Justice Elena Kagan writing that the majority's holding will lead to "a collective action problem of nightmarish proportions."

Among the repercussions of the decision, she predicted that it will lead to a decline in public sector unionization.

"Everyone - not just those who oppose the union, but also those who back it - has an economic incentive to withhold dues; only altruism or loyalty - as against financial self-interest - can explain why an employee would pay the union for its services," she wrote in a dissent joined by Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg, Justice Stephen Breyer and Justice Sonia Sotomayor.

She also accused the majority of "weaponizing the First Amendment, in a way that unleashes judges, now and in the future, to intervene in economic and regulatory policy."

Several Democratic lawmakers blasted the decision in statements, as did unions. Jay McDonald, president of the Ohio Fraternal Order of Police, said the group is "confident that our membership understands the value of belonging to the FOP and we will continue to work hard to keep their trust."

Ohio AFL-CIO President Tim Burga said "billionaires and corporate special interests that have manipulated our system of justice have succeeded in getting the highest court in the land to do their bidding."

The Ohio Federation of Teachers and the Ohio Education Association also spoke out. OFT President Melissa Cropper said the decision will lead to greater activism among her members.

"This decision today is a momentary triumph for the wealthy special interests who backed this lawsuit," she said. "But the voices of working people will not go unheard. And unions, such as ours, remain the best way to make sure decision-makers - at work or in the halls of government - are listening."

The Ohio Civil Service Employees Association said the decision "will only further rig the economy in favor of the wealthy and corporate interests."

OAPSE Executive Director Joe Rugola called the decision political.

"Justice Alito even says in his opinion that unions are powerful and get things done for our members," he said. "That's what the anti-union forces are afraid of: that our collective voice on behalf of workers will mean better pay and benefits for working people."

Kennedy Retirement: Justice Kennedy announced his retirement Wednesday, paving the way for Republicans to move the court in a decidedly rightward direction, a fact that was not overlooked by many, including Ohio Right to Life, which predicted the overturning of Roe v. Wade.

"Moments like these are why pro-life Americans elected President Donald Trump," President Mike Gonidakis said. "He has the historic opportunity to add a justice who will serve as the fifth pro-life vote on the court. Ohio Right to Life's goal has always been to overturn Roe v. Wade and to see the end of abortion, which has killed 60 million American children in the last 45 years."

NARAL Pro-Choice Ohio Executive Director Kellie Copeland expressed concern that the next right-leaning appointee would be in a position to overturn the "constitutional right to access abortion."

"Americans have had their rights stripped away by the US Supreme Court, thanks in part to a stolen seat that should have been filled by President Barack Obama," she said. "Women, union members, and immigrants all were harmed by decisions handed down just this week. We need a court that protects and respects rights, not one that pushes the political agenda of Donald Trump, Mike Pence and their ultra conservative cronies."

U.S. Rep. Bill Johnson (R-Marietta) encouraged his upper chamber colleagues to act quickly on filling the court opening.

"I encourage President Trump to nominate a qualified jurist from the list of potential Supreme Court judges he unveiled during his presidential campaign - someone who will interpret the Constitution as written, rather than legislating from the bench," he said.

"Whoever ends up filling this vacancy will play a major role in the future of the high court."

Justice Kennedy plans to step down at the end of July, and U.S. Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said he plans to hold a vote on a replacement this fall.

The White House in a statement provided no timeline on choosing the justice's successor and instead focused on his service.

"A Californian - like the president who appointed him - Justice Kennedy is a true man of letters," the statement read. "During his tenure on the court, he authored landmark opinions in every significant area of constitutional law, most notably on equal protection under the law, the separation of powers, and the First Amendment's guarantees of freedom of speech and religion."

Chairman: Senate Looking For Balance With Payday Lending Measure

Two weeks in the Senate wasn't enough time to resolve the complex issues surrounding payday lending law revisions, and interested parties will keep talking on a compromise, a key lawmaker guiding the process said Wednesday.

Sen. Scott Oelslager (R-N. Canton) made the comments following a meeting of the Senate Finance Committee, which he chairs. The panel heard some additional testimony before a surprise attempt by the ranking minority member to move it forward.

The chairman previous said he didn't intend to take any amendments or call a vote on the proposal (HB 123) this week, but Sen. Michael Skindell (D-Lakewood) made a motion to report the measure before the meeting could be adjourned.

After committee members were called back from other meetings, majority Republicans voted on party lines to table Sen. Skindell's motion.

Sen. Oelslager said he and many members of the committee are still unsure what direction they would like to see the bill go, whether that entails the way it's written, or with some or all of the recommendations made by Sen. Matt Huffman (R-Lima). (See Gongwer Ohio Report, June 26, 2018)

"We also want to make sure that the interested parties have a chance to keep talking," he said after the meeting. "It's a very complicated issue. We want to make sure there's a balance between the person offering the loan and the person taking out the loan."

Sen. Skindell's move came after Nick Bourke, director of consumer finance for the Pew Charitable Trusts, asked senators to advance the proposal as written.

"I urge this committee to take a vote," he said. "Vote on HB123 as passed by the House. Or make a few sensible amendments to HB123 as we've discussed and vote on that. Even if it fails, we will know where this process stands."

Mr. Bourke, who has testified several times on the measure, told the committee they have three options in front of them: an overhaul of regulations such as HB123, the complete elimination of high-interest lending, and the status quo.

The proposals from Sen. Huffman, he said, would preserve the status quo.

"It is not reform because it does not solve the problems for consumers and it would cost the small number of payday lenders who enjoy the status quo today virtually nothing," he said.

Sen. Oelslager asked if the proposal is worse than the current law for lenders, and Mr. Bourke said it would have no change.

Mr. Bourke also said lawmakers could propose to ban high-interest loans entirely.

Sen. Bill Coley (R-Liberty Twp.) said the 2008 regulation constituted an attempt to ban high-interest loans.

"Ten years ago, when the legislature and then the voters of Ohio dealt with the legislation, that was a ban bill in the state of Ohio," he said. "Is the House-passed version of HB123 a ban bill?"

Mr. Bourke said it's a reform effort and would still allow companies to operate.

"I've spoken with companies that used to operate in Ohio before 2008 that left Ohio because they did not want to operate in a loophole," he said.

The panel also heard from Ashish Gandhi, owner of Cash Plus Silverton, who praised Sen. Huffman's plan.

"I believe that Senator Huffman's plan was very well thought out and mathematically intelligent," he wrote. "He was magically able to give all sides what they were asking for. His plan lowers the APR that critics insisted on. His plan lowers the daily cost of a loan to less than a cheap cup of coffee at a gas station. His plan allows for a plethora of options for both consumers and businesses."

The original version of the legislation is "extreme, poorly written and not workable," he said.

Sen. Huffman's plan is not exactly what the industry would have wanted, but would allow businesses to stay in place, he said.

Prosecutors Praise Beefed Up Parole Monitoring Bill

A bill to revise parole monitoring procedures has the potential to save lives, members of a Senate panel were told Wednesday.

The legislation (SB 202~~2~~) is named after Reagan Tokes, who was murdered by Brian Golsby shortly after his release from prison.

Lou Tobin, executive director of the Ohio Prosecuting Attorneys Association, said the legislation "will fill the gaps in the way the state manages offenders who are released from prison."

Among the bill's provisions, it would create reentry programs to ensure that those released from prison are not homeless and require restrictions to be placed on those who are on post-release control and fitted with GPS monitoring devices.

It would also require the state to create a database of GPS data that would be available to law enforcement officials when investigating crimes. Another portion of the legislation would focus on ensuring parole officer caseloads are not too large.

"Brian Golsby was released into homelessness and with a GPS monitor that did not establish zones within which he was allowed to move," Mr. Tobin told members of the Senate Government Oversight & Reform Committee. "It was subsequently discovered he committed at least six violent robberies, prior to his encounter with Reagan, all while being 'monitored.' The state must do more to address the circumstances that led to this."

William Parker of the American Court & Drug Testing Services said GPS monitors are essentially useless without guidelines and restrictions.

"GPS technology can do much, much more than simply provide the current location of someone wearing the ankle bracelet. Using easily programmable curfews, inclusion and exclusion zones and daily schedules, the technology can alert us immediately if the defendant is not where they are supposed to be when they are supposed to be there," he said.

"The technology can alert us immediately if the defendant moves into a neighborhood where his or her presence represents a threat to a person or community. It can notify us immediately if the defendant removes the bracelet or fails to charge the bracelet. But, the effective use of this technology requires more than satellites, cellular signals and computer applications."

Phyllis Carlson-Riehm of the ACTION OHIO Coalition For Battered Women also provided written testimony in support of the measure.

"We all know that Ohio's prisons are full to overflowing and the costs are enormous," she wrote. "We all know that prison reforms are long overdue to reduce the number of non-violent inmates and move them into meaningful community corrections programs and rehabilitated lives.

"But at the same time we must not fail to strengthen Ohio laws to hold violent repeat felons responsible for the multiple crimes that they commit and stop the needless human tragedies that are happening to many Ohio families."

Companion legislation (HB 365) - that also deals with indeterminate sentencing - cleared the House earlier this month. (See Gongwer Ohio Report, June 20, 2018)

Senate Releases Session Calendar

The Senate could hold full sessions as many as 14 days during the second half of the year, according to a schedule released by Senate President Larry Obhof (R-Medina) on Wednesday.

The calendar sets if-needed sessions for July 10 and August 22. Three potential session dates are set for September.

Nine possible dates are scheduled for November and December, which would represent the chamber's post-election session.

The House has yet to release its schedule for July through December.

All session dates are available in Gongwer's full legislative schedule, where the meetings can be synced with Outlook calendars.

Governor's Appointments

Opportunities for Ohioans with Disabilities Council: Kimberly S. Monachino of Twinsburg for a term beginning June 27, 2018, and ending June 1, 2019 and Margie Hegg of Upper Arlington for a term beginning June 27, 2018, and ending June 1, 2020.

Supplemental Agency Calendar

Thursday, June 28

Business Gateway Steering Committee, 30 East Broad Street, Room 2925, Columbus, 1 p.m.

Supplemental Event Planner

Friday, August 3

Sen. Sandra Williams (D-Cleveland) fundraiser, FOP Hall, 2249 Payne Ave., Cleveland, 5 p.m., ($200 (table); $20 (friend) to Friends of Sandra Williams)

17 S. High St., Suite 630
Columbus Ohio 43215

Phone: 614-221-1992 | Fax: 614-221-7844 | Email: gongwer@gongwer-oh.com

Scott Miller, President | Kent Cahlander, Editor | Mike Livingston, Dustin Ensinger, Jon Reed,
Tom Gallick, Staff Writers

Click the  after a bill number to create a saved search and email alert for that bill.

© 2018, Gongwer News Service, Inc. Reproduction of this publication in whole or in part without the express permission of the publisher is in violation of the federal Copyright Law (17 USC 101 et seq.) as is retransmission by facsimile or any other electronic means, including electronic mail.

House Activity for Wednesday, June 27, 2018

PASSED

SB 66 ■

CRIMINAL LAWS (Eklund, J., Tavares, C.) To modify criminal sentencing and corrections law by including the promotion of effective rehabilitation as a purpose of felony sentencing, removing the one-year minimum for presumptive fourth or fifth degree felony community control sanctions, modifying sanctions for a violation of a community control condition, modifying the manner of calculating confinement credits, modifying eligibility criteria and procedures for granting pre-trial diversion and intervention in lieu of conviction, making offenders convicted of certain multiple fourth or fifth degree felonies eligible for conviction record sealing, revising procedures for the Adult Parole Authority to grant a final release or terminate post-release control, and modifying the criteria for considering a prison term sanction for a post-release control violation; to extend the State Highway Patrol's authority to enforce criminal laws to also apply to the Northeast Ohio Correctional Center; to modify the penalty for an employer's failure to remit state income taxes withheld from an employee; and to authorize the conveyance of state-owned real estate.

84-2 (Edwards, Schaffer) (Amended)

Gongwer Coverage

SB 81 ■

FIREARMS (Terhar, L.) To waive the concealed carry license fee for active members of the armed forces and retired and honorably discharged veterans, to accept military experience with firearms as proof of competency with firearms regardless of when the applicant for a license acquired the experience, to permit a licensee to renew a concealed handgun license at any time before the expiration of the license, and to require the Attorney General to monitor the number of license fees waived and cap the total amount allowed to be waived at $1.5 million.

76-6

Gongwer Coverage

SB 127 ■

WASTE COLLECTION VEHICLES (LaRose, F.) To require motor vehicle operators to take certain actions upon approaching a stationary waste collection vehicle collecting refuse on a roadside.

84-0

Gongwer Coverage

---

SB 216 ■ SCHOOL REGULATIONS (Huffman, M.) To enact the "Ohio Public School Deregulation Act" regarding the administration of preschool and primary and secondary education programs, to add the territory of Summit County to the Stark State College District, and to prescribe procedures for appointing the board of trustees of the combined technical college district.
60-32 (Amended)
Gongwer Coverage

---

SB 220 ■ CYBERSECURITY (Hackett, B., Bacon, K.) To provide a legal safe harbor to covered entities that implement a specified cybersecurity program, to allow transactions recorded by blockchain technology under the Uniform Electronic Transactions Act, and to alter the definition of "key employee" under the Casino Gaming Law.
62-21 (Earlier REPORTED-AMENDED)
Gongwer Coverage

---

SB 221 ■ AGENCY RULEMAKING (Uecker, J.) To reform agency rule-making and legislative review thereof.
73-19 (Earlier REPORTED-AMENDED)
Gongwer Coverage

---

SB 239 ■ REGIONAL GOVERNMENT COUNCILS (Dolan, M.) To modify the law concerning regional councils of governments to clarify that a municipal corporation eligible to designate a tourism development district may designate more than one district, to specify that the American Law Institute's approved "Restatement of the Law, Liability Insurance" does not constitute the public policy of Ohio, to designate a portion of U.S. Route 33 in Meigs County as the "Steve Story Memorial Highway," to designate a portion of Interstate Route 270 in Franklin County as the "Officers Anthony Morelli and Eric Joering Memorial Highway," and to designate the portion of U.S. Route 24 in Henry County as the "Henry County Veterans Highway." 88-0
Gongwer Coverage

---

SB 299 ■ WATER IMPROVEMENTS (Gardner, R., O'Brien, S.) To credit additional amounts of the Local Government Fund to fund public safety services in areas that experienced a 30% or more decrease in the taxable value of certain power plants between 2016 and 2017, to phase out the payments over ten years, to increase the appropriation to the Local Government Fund; to support broadband development; to establish the OhioCorps Pilot Project; and to make appropriations, including appropriations for the protection and preservation of Lake Erie and the National Guard Scholarship Program.

88-0 (Amended)

Gongwer Coverage

---

HB 7

MEDICAL PROVIDER IMMUNITY (Cupp, R.) To grant qualified civil immunity to certain medical providers and emergency medical technicians who provide emergency medical services as a result of a disaster and through its duration; to provide that certain communications made regarding an unanticipated outcome of medical care, the development or implementation of standards under federal laws, and an insurer's reimbursement policies on health care are inadmissible as evidence in a medical claim; to specify the manner of sending a notice of intent to file a medical claim and provide a procedure for the discovery of other potential claims within a specified period after the filing of a medical claim; to provide civil immunity to certain medical providers regarding the discharge of a patient with a mental condition that threatens the safety of the patient or others; to permit access to peer review committee documents during authorized inspections by the Director of Health while preserving their confidentiality; and to clarify the definition of "medical claim."

71-16

Gongwer Coverage

---

HB 36

MARRIAGE CEREMONIES (Vitale, N.) To provide that an ordained or licensed minister or religious society is not required to solemnize a marriage and a religious society is not required to allow any building or property of the religious society to be used to host a marriage ceremony if the marriage does not conform to the ordained or licensed minister's or religious society's sincerely held religious beliefs, to provide that an ordained or licensed minister or religious society is not subject to civil or criminal liability for such a denial, and to provide that the state and political subdivisions may not penalize or withhold benefits to an ordained or licensed minister or religious society for such a denial.

59-29 (Amended)

Gongwer Coverage

---

HB 92

PUBLIC INDECENCY (Schaffer, T.) To require an offender who knowingly commits the offense of public indecency under certain circumstances involving exposure of private parts likely to be viewed by minors and for the purpose of sexual arousal or gratification to register as a Tier I sex offender/child-victim offender if the judge orders registration.

80-0

Gongwer Coverage

---

HB 126 ■ KINSHIP CAREGIVERS (Boyd, J., Rezabek, J.) To require a region-based kinship care navigator program, and to make an appropriation.

82-0

Gongwer Coverage

---

HB 156 ■ VISION CARE INSURANCE (Schuring, K.) Regarding limitations imposed by health insurers on vision care services.

75-2 (Hambley & Romanchuk)

Gongwer Coverage

---

HB 211 ■ HOME INSPECTORS (Hughes, J.) To require the licensure of home inspectors, to create the Ohio Home Inspector Board to regulate the licensure and performance of home inspectors, and to require realtors who recommend home inspectors to provide a list of home inspectors

74-6

Gongwer Coverage

---

HB 240 ■ MONTH DESIGNATION (Barnes, J.) To enact the "Respect Your Date Act" to designate the month of April as "Respect Your Date Month" and to require each state institution of higher education to adopt a policy regarding dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault, stalking, and rape on campus and to declare an emergency.

Bill: 77-0; Emergency: 75-6

Gongwer Coverage

---

HB 349 ■ POLICE ANIMALS (LaTourette, S.) To increase the penalty for assaulting a police dog or horse and to include search and rescue dogs and horses in the prohibition against assaulting or harassing a police animal.

69-11

Gongwer Coverage

---

HB 355 ■ SEXTING (Hill, B., Rezabek, J.) To generally prohibit sexting by a person under 19 years of age.

85-0

Gongwer Coverage

---

HB 386 ■ CREDIT FREEZES (Henne, M., Kelly, B.) To modify the fees that a credit reporting agency can charge in relation to a credit report freeze.

82-2

Gongwer Coverage

---

HB 425 ■ BODY CAMERAS (Antani, N., Craig, H.) To provide that specified portions of peace officers' body-worn camera recordings and the infrastructure record of a public school are not public records for purposes of the Public Records Law.

88-0

Gongwer Coverage

---

HB 428 ■ STUDENT EXPRESSION (Ginter, T., LaTourette, S.) Regarding student religious expression and to entitle the act the "Ohio Student Religious Liberties Act of 2018."

62-20

Gongwer Coverage

---

HB 469 ■ TAX CREDIT (Schuring, K., Patton, T.) To authorize a nonrefundable insurance company tax credit for contributions of capital to transformational mixed use development projects.

78-0

Gongwer Coverage

---

HB 479 ■ DRUG PRICE INFORMATION (Lipps, S., West, T.) Regarding pharmacy benefit managers, pharmacists, and the disclosure to patients of drug price information.

75-0

Gongwer Coverage

---

HB 480 ■ MULTI-PARCEL AUCTIONS (Hill, B.) To establish requirements governing multi-parcel auctions.

72-0

Gongwer Coverage

---

HB 497 ■ PRIVATE IMAGES (Rogers, J., Manning, N.) To prohibit the nonconsensual dissemination of private sexual images, to require that certain property involved in the offense be criminally forfeited, and to create certain legal rights and protections of a victim of the offense.
81-0
Gongwer Coverage

---

HB 500 ■ TOWNSHIP LAWS (Carfagna, R.) To make various changes to township law.
81-0
Gongwer Coverage

---

HB 502 ■ YOUTH SUICIDE (Anielski, M.) With regard to educator inservice training on youth suicide awareness and prevention in public schools.
82-0
Gongwer Coverage

---

HB 511 ■ MARRIAGE AGE (Lanese, L., Rogers, J.) To make changes to the laws governing the ages at which persons may marry.
78-0
Gongwer Coverage

---

HB 540 ■ TEACHER EVALUATIONS (Gavarone, T., Manning, N.) With regard to teacher evaluations.
84-0
Gongwer Coverage

---

HB 543 ■ COUNTY PROSECUTORS (Perales, R., Hambley, S.) To allow a county prosecuting attorney to enter into a contract with a regional airport authority, port authority, or regional planning commission to be its legal adviser.
79-0
Gongwer Coverage

---

HB 572 ■ RETIREMENT CREDIT (Scherer, G., Howse, S.) Regarding Public Employees Retirement System service credit for services as a nonteaching school employee of a county board of developmental disabilities.

---

80-0

Gongwer Coverage

HB 595 ■

PROBATE LAW (Cupp, R., Rezabek, J.) Relative to procedures for a testator to file a declaratory judgment action to declare the validity of a will prior to death and the settlor of a trust to file such an action to declare its validity, exceptions to antilapse provisions in class gifts in wills and trusts, incorporation of a written trust into a will, trusts for a minor, arbitration of trust disputes, the creation of county and multicounty guardianship services boards, the coroner's disposition of person dying of suspicious or unusual death, an application for the release of medical records and medical billing records, and adding involuntary manslaughter not resulting from a felony vehicular homicide offense to the list of offenses excluding an individual from inheriting from a decedent.

78-0

Gongwer Coverage

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE AMENDMENTS

HB 18 ■

SPECIAL ELECTIONS (Pelanda, D., Retherford, W.) to eliminate the requirement of holding a special election to fill a vacancy in a party nomination for the office of representative to Congress under certain circumstances; to authorize local elected officers that have levied a hotel lodging excise tax, or a designee of such officers, to simultaneously hold the position of officer or member of the board of trustees of a convention and visitors' bureau without constituting incompatible offices; and to require that, upon request, county auditors, municipal fiscal officers, and their employees must share lodging tax return information with the directors of convention and visitors' bureaus operating in their counties.

67-22

Gongwer Coverage

HB 87 ■

COMMUNITY SCHOOLS (Roegner, K.) Regarding public moneys returned to the state as a result of a finding for recovery issued pursuant to an audit of the enrollment records of a community school, to clarify the time period within which a school district emergency levy or substitute levy may be renewed or replaced, to clarify the responsibilities of a school district treasurer regarding the signing or executing of certain documents, to require the State Board of Education to adopt standards for learning management software for internet- and computer-based community schools, regarding qualification for state payments by internet- or computer-based community schools, regarding joint health and medical insurance programs by political subdivisions and county boards of developmental disabilities, regarding submission of five-year financial forecasts by public schools, and regarding the moratorium on certain provisions affecting community schools and school districts whose enrollments were affected due to enrolling students of a suspended e-school.

70-22

Gongwer Coverage

---

HB 263 ■

OUTDOOR DINING AREAS (Lanese, L.) To generally allow an owner, keeper, or harbinger of a dog to take the dog in an outdoor dining area of a retail food establishment or food service operation.

79-10

Gongwer Coverage

---

HB 312 ■

POLITICAL SUBDIVISION SPENDING (Schuring, K., Greenspan, D.) To regulate the use of credit cards and debit cards by political subdivisions, to modify the duties and powers of the Auditor of State, to specify that electronic submission of a public record request entitles the requestor to damages if the public office fails to comply with the Public Records Act, to make changes to the law governing financial planning and supervision commissions, and to authorize a property tax abatement for certain property subject to a submerged land lease and held by a municipal corporation.

91-0

Gongwer Coverage

---

HB 318 ■

SCHOOL RESOURCE OFFICERS (Patterson, J., LaTourette, S.) To define the necessary qualifications and responsibilities of school resource officers, to require the Facilities Construction Commission to study and report on school building security upgrades and to make an appropriation.

69-20

Gongwer Coverage

---

HB 336 ■

LICENSE FEES (Barnes, J., Greenspan, D.) To prohibit the imposition of driver's license and temporary instruction permit reinstatement fees in specified circumstances and to name this act the Reinstatement Fee Amnesty Initiative.

84-6

Gongwer Coverage

---

HB 347 ■ ROAD NAMING (Kelly, B., Dever, J.) To designate multiple memorial highways.

91-0

Gongwer Coverage

CONFERENCE REPORT ADOPTED

SB 1 ■ DRUG OFFENSES (LaRose, F.) To increase penalties for drug trafficking violations, drug possession violations, and aggravated funding of drug trafficking when the drug involved in the offense is a fentanyl-related compound, except for drug possession violations when the fentanyl-related compound is combined with marihuana or a Schedule III, IV, or V controlled substance and the offender did not know of the fentanyl content; to revise the manner of determining sentence for certain violations of the offense of permitting drug abuse; and to add lisdexamfetamine to the list of schedule II controlled substances.

59-10

Gongwer Coverage

HOUSE SPEAKER'S APPOINTMENTS

Community & Family Advancement Committee: Remove Rep. Brinkman, appoint Rep. Greenspan

COMMITTEE HEARINGS

Agriculture & Rural Development

HB 560 ■ PET FOOD (Lanese, L.) To prohibit pet food from containing remains from an animal that was euthanized by the use of any drug injected intravenously or through another nonvascular route or remains from any dog or cat.
(CONTINUED; 1st Hearing-Sponsor)

Rep. Laura Lanese (R-Grove City) said her measure "will provide pet owners some assurance that their pet food does not contain the remains of other cats and dogs and that it does not contain pentobarbital, the drug used to euthanize cats and dogs."

The sponsor referred to news stories in recent years about tainted pet food and noted the FDA had recalled products after pentobarbital, which is used by veterinarians to euthanize cats, dogs and horses, was found in the samples from an Ohio-based pet food company. Rep. Lanese said current state law doesn't sufficiently cover the products that rendering plants sell to pet food manufacturers. "Under current Ohio law, a commercial feed is adulterated if it bears or contains any poisonous or deleterious substance that may render it injurious to animal or human health, except that when the substance is not an added substance. Since the drug is not added during processing, the feed may not be considered an added substance and therefore permissible," she said.

"Most pet owners do not want to feed their family dog or cat the remains of other dogs and cats. Even if a consumer actively tries to make an informed decision by reading the label, terms like animal meal and meat meal make it hard to decipher what exactly is in our pet's food," the sponsor said. "Guardrails to ensure that our pets are not eating other pets and ingesting euthanasia drugs is one small token we can offer consumers, especially since pet food companies are denying they are part of the pet food they sell."

Responding to a question from Rep. Michael Sheehy (D-Oregon), the sponsor said there are federal regulations regarding pet food content but the lack of any legal actions underscore the need for Ohio to take action and tighten its oversight.

Several members had questions about testing for the drug, and Rep. Lanese told Rep. Darrell Kick (R-Loudonville) that imposing such costs on rendering plants would likely lead to extensive pushback.

She told Rep. John Patterson (D-Jefferson) she was unsure how many rendering plants existed in the state. "There's very little oversight of this industry," she said, adding the bill would only apply to Ohio plants.

Rep. Keith Faber (R-Celina) said he applauded the concept of the bill but questioned whether the oversight should be left to the free market, such as pet food makers putting testing labels on their products.

HB 631 AMUSEMENT RIDES (Hughes, J., Patterson, J.) To revise the laws governing amusement ride operation and safety, to designate this act as "Tyler's Law," and to declare an emergency. (CONTINUED (See separate story); 1st Hearing-Sponsor)

Insurance

HB 621 DEATH BENEFITS (Hughes, J.) To revise the payments that surviving family members receive from the Ohio Public Safety Officers Death Benefit Fund and to permit surviving spouses and children to participate in the health, dental, and vision benefits offered to state employees as if the survivors were employees of this state. (CONTINUED (No testimony); 3rd Hearing-Opponent)

Chair Rep. Tom Brinkman (R-Cincinnati) said the committee received a fiscal note detailing the bill's estimated costs. He said an amendment is being drafted in regard to a similar bill pending in the Senate.

SB 227 HEALTH PLAN CLAIMS (Huffman, M.) To require health plan issuers to release certain claim information to group plan policyholders. (CONTINUED; 1st Hearing-Sponsor)

Sen. Matt Huffman (R-Lima) said the bill would give employers more information about claims made under their health insurance coverage while protecting information that details which individuals and dependents are receiving care.

That information will give small employers more data they can use to shop for coverage from insurers, he said. Without that information, small businesses are often left to renew coverage and accept rate increases proposed by insurers.

Claims information that would be shared with employers wouldn't include any personal information, and he said the release of that redacted data isn't prohibited by federal law. The result would spur more competition in the insurance market, potentially leading to lower prices, he said.

Rep. Wes Retherford (R-Hamilton) asked if there would be any cases where the release of information could be denied.

Mr. Huffman said the bill directs the release of non-identifiable claims information about all people covered under a company's policy.

Rep. George Lang (R-West Chester) said his initial reaction to the proposal is that if an employer is paying an insurance bill, it should have access to claims information.

Responding to Rep. Michael Henne (R-Clayton), Sen. Huffman said the bill is targeted to employers with between 50 and 100 employees, and indicated that leaders of smaller companies might already be aware of health conditions that their employees have.

Rep. Glenn Holmes (R-McDonald) questioned whether the sponsor would be willing to consider redacting pharmaceutical information, indicating that having knowledge of drug use could create ethical issues for those who make decisions about employee coverage.

Government Accountability & Oversight

SB 220 CYBERSECURITY (Hackett, B., Bacon, K.) To provide a legal safe harbor to covered entities that implement a specified cybersecurity program.
(REPORTED-AMENDED (No testimony); 3rd Hearing-All testimony-Possible amendments & vote)

An amendment offered by Rep. Kathleen Clyde (D-Kent) to replace the phrase "reasonable compliance" with "actual compliance" was tabled in an 8-2 vote, with Rep. Bernadine Kent (D-Columbus) joining all the Republicans present in the vote, as she would do throughout the committee meeting after recently being exiled from the House Democratic Caucus.

In explaining her motion to table, Rep. Dorothy Pelanda (D-Marysville) said actual compliance could be a difficult bar for small businesses to clear.

"Reasonable compliance was arrived at after several interested party meetings and discussions with those people," she said.

Another failed amendment proposed by Rep. Clyde would have allowed a person whose private information is compromised to request the attorney general's office bring legal action. If it does not, the person would be able to bring legal action on behalf of the state and split the recovery.

An amendment offered by Rep. Bill Seitz (R-Cincinnati) that would allow owners of casinos with less than a 5% stake to avoid licensing requirements was added to the bill. He said the current law that requires licensing for anyone owning as little as 1% is unworkable for a publicly traded company.

Rep. Clyde questioned how the amendment does not run afoul of the single-subject rule.

Rep. Seitz responded the subject matter of the bill is commerce.

"I can't see anybody filing a lawsuit over this because it is simply common sense," he said.

An amendment offered by chairman Rep. Lou Blessing (R-Cincinnati) pertaining to blockchain technology e-signatures was also attached to the measure.

SB 221 AGENCY RULEMAKING (Uecker, J.) To reform agency rule-making and legislative review thereof. (REPORTED-AMENDED (No testimony); 4th Hearing-All testimony-Possible amendments & vote)

A clarifying amendment offered by Rep. Blessing to make the language in the measure more consistent with the rest of the section was accepted without objection.

Two Democratic amendments - both offered by Rep. Brigid Kelly (D-Cincinnati) - were tabled.

The first would have removed language allowing a business to challenge an agency rule based on adverse impact. Rep. Kelly called the language "overly broad."

"I think the main thrust is really to just avoid harming business," Rep. Blessing said.

The other would have removed language allowing a business to contest a rule outside of the regular review period.

SB 263 NOTARY PUBLIC (Huffman, M., Wilson, S.) To enact the Notary Public Modernization Act. (CONTINUED (No testimony); 3rd Hearing-All testimony)

Subscribers Note: For full testimony see the committee's website under June 26.

Health

HB 167 OPIOID MEDICATIONS (Edwards, J.) Regarding addiction treatment and opioid prescribing by physicians and dentists. (REPORTED; 3rd Hearing-All testimony-Possible vote)

The measure was reported unanimously.

Rep. Emilia Sykes (D-Akron) said a constituent with chronic pain raised concerns about the limitations in the initial draft of the proposal and said it could hinder patients' ability to get treatment.

Sponsor Rep. Jay Edwards (R-Nelsonville) said those provisions have been removed from the bill, which now focuses on ensuring patients have access to medication-assisted treatment if a prescriber is unavailable. "I got a lot of the same calls," he said.

HB 326 PRESCRIBING AUTHORITY (Seitz, B., Gavarone, T.) To authorize certain psychologists to prescribe psychotropic and other drugs for the treatment of drug addiction and mental illness. (CONTINUED (No testimony); 6th Hearing-Possible substitute & amendments)

HB 546 TELEMEDICINE (Patton, T.) To prohibit health benefit plans from treating telemedicine services differently from in-person health care services solely because they are provided as telemedicine services. (CONTINUED; 4th Hearing-All testimony-Possible vote)

Jimelle Rumberg, executive director of the Ohio Foot and Ankle Medical Association, said the measure would enhance physicians' efforts to provide quality, cost-effective care by allowing the care delivery system to evolve through telemedicine.

"As employers and insurers continue to drive consumers to high-deductible insurance plans that require more patient out-of-pocket requirements, telemedicine and its ability to provide quality care for lower prices could help consumers better manage their out-of-pocket requirements that are mandated by these high-deductible plans," she said.

She disputed claims that the legislation would mandate the use of telemedicine by insurers or health plans, saying it only creates a "payment parity" between in-person and telemedicine services.

"HB546 simply says that payment discrimination to a provider cannot take place solely based on the fact that the service is provided via telemedicine," she wrote. "Insurers and health plans still would have utilization management tools they may use to regulate telemedicine services and HB546 does not infringe on those capabilities."

Miranda Motter, president and CEO of the Ohio Association of Health Plans, said in written testimony that the proposal constitutes a statutory mandate for coverage of telehealth, which could stifle innovation and limit the technology's ability to be a tool to drive down costs.

"Telehealth should not be used to increase health care costs for consumers, employers and the state as the payer for Medicaid and the State Employees Health Plan," she wrote. "As a result, Ohio's health care consumers should not have to pay for 'bricks and mortar' infrastructure, facility fees and other types of fees hospitals and doctors charge for in-person services."

HB 559 CHILD IMMUNIZATIONS (Gonzales, A., Landis, A.) To make changes to the law governing immunization of children enrolled in school, preschool programs, and day-care programs. (CONTINUED-SUBSTITUTE; 4th Hearing-Possible substitute & amendments)

The panel accepted a substitute version that removes the requirement that the Department of Health publish immunization rates by school building and makes other changes, said Rep. Theresa Gavarone (R-Bowling Green). (Comp Doc)

The school building change stemmed from concerns that it could lead to shaming and might allow specific students to be identified, she said.

The new version retains provisions about school-level reporting to ODH and clarifies that information from private and parochial schools is not to be posted on the department's website, she said.

Rep. Gavarone said the new version expands the eligible documents to include a copy of the child's immunization record and allows the provider to submit a form for parents seeking a non-medical exemption. It also delays implementation until the 2021 school year.

The committee received written testimony from Donna Kazee, president of Ohio Advocates for Medical Freedom, who urged committee members to pay more attention to concerns from opponents.

Ms. Kazee raised concerns about the tracking of vaccination and exemption status and the public posting of data, and about the insertion of a third party into the exemption process against the parent's choosing.

"These and other parents should not be forced to receive education and information when they are declining for religious/conscience reasons, which have nothing to do with medical information," she said.

She also suggested more details of the required form be standardized, raising concerns that it could include statements such as that they are placing their child and others in danger by not vaccinating.

"We encourage and are happy to assist with further discussion about both standardized form contents and responsibility and determination of standardized risk and benefit information," she said.

HB 677 MENTAL HEALTH (Barnes, J.) To require the Department of Mental Health and Addiction Services to operate a demonstration program under which a mental health trauma center is established as part of a county hospital located in Cuyahoga County. (CONTINUED; 1st Hearing-Sponsor & proponent)

Sponsor Rep. John Barnes (D-Cleveland) said it would require a mental health trauma center to be established through a demonstration program at a county hospital in Cuyahoga County.

"In the state of Ohio, we have a crisis of mental health issues, and largely our government has been reactive to the problem," he said.

The proposal is intended to get out in front of the issue by improving access to mental health services, particularly short-term services, he said.

The sponsor said he hoped to work out the details of the proposal over the summer.

HB 72 STEP THERAPY (Johnson, T., Antonio, N.) To adopt requirements related to step therapy protocols implemented by health plan issuers and the Department of Medicaid. (CONTINUED-SUBSTITUTE; 6th Hearing-Possible substitute)

The committee accepted a substitute version that Rep. Terry Johnson (R-McDermott) said made a variety of changes. (Fiscal Note)

The new version replaces the terms "based on medical necessity" and "medically appropriate" with "consistent with medical and scientific evidence," he said. It also reduces the exemptions to four and modifies them. It now exempts a patient when the medication is contra-indicated or will likely cause an adverse reaction or physical or mental harm, as opposed to previously just if it is contra-indicated, he said.

The substitute version also makes changes to the appeals process, he said.

Civil Justice

HB 147 HUMANE SOCIETIES (Hambley, S.) To make changes to humane society law and to make humane society agents subject to bribery law. (REPORTED; 4th Hearing-All testimony-Possible vote)

Corey Roscoe, Ohio state director for the Humane Society, submitted interested party testimony in which she said concerns remain that the regulations proposed "can create overdue burdens and unintentionally make it harder for humane societies to perform their volunteer law enforcement duties."

"One prominent concern of the bill is to require non-prosecution requirements entered in by humane society-appointed prosecutors be approved by a judge but not required for all prosecutors and cases prosecuted under 959," Ms. Roscoe wrote. "The law should be consistent for all prosecutors if the goal of judicial review is to serve as a check and balance."

HB 615 DEBT COLLECTIONS (West, T.) To require creditors, prior to collecting the debt of a decedent outside of probate, to explicitly inform the person from whom payment is sought that the person is under no obligation to pay the debt. (CONTINUED; 1st Hearing-Sponsor)

Due to the lateness of the committee's start, in terms of HB615, HB672 and HB694, Chair Rep. Jim Butler (R-Oakwood) said the panel would accept written sponsor testimony to constitute each bill's first hearing. Sponsors may appear before the panel at a later date to answer questions, he said.

In written testimony, Rep. Thomas West (D-Canton) urged support for his measure that aims to ensure those who have lost loved ones don't mistakenly believe they are obligated to pay the deceased's debts.

"House Bill 615 will require all creditors that have claims against an estate to inform the person from whom payment is sought, that they as an individual are under no obligation to pay the debt," the sponsor wrote. "The bill also states that failure to inform the individual is considered an unconscionable act and renders the creditor subject to legal action by the Attorney General or by the individual that was left uninformed."

HB 672 PUBLIC RECORDS (Barnes, J.) To create a procedure by which a person may obtain a court order to correct an error, omission, or legal defect in a public record, and to name the act the "Final Order Correction Act." (CONTINUED; 1st Hearing-Sponsor)

Rep. John Barnes (D-Cleveland) said in his written presentation the proposal would enable a person to file a petition in the court of common pleas to request a correction or invalidation if an error, omission or legal defect is found in a public record.

The error must personally affect the complainant, who must then file with the county where the office responsible for the record is located or where the record is kept. The office must then respond and state the basis for belief the record is accurate.

The court would then determine whether a correction or invalidation is required based on a preponderance of the evidence. "The (bill) will ensure that the constitutional right of due process is achieved," Rep. Barnes wrote.

HB 694 CONTRACT LIMITATIONS (Lang, G.) To shorten the period of limitations for actions upon a contract. (CONTINUED; 1st Hearing-Sponsor)

Rep. George Lang (R-West Chester Twp.) said in written testimony his proposal is "short but significant" in that it reduces the statute of limitations for written and oral contracts from eight and six years respectively to three years.

"As a business owner, the more certainty I can gain, the more business risks I can take," Rep. Lang said. "If I know my liability on a contract only runs for three years, I can take on different relationships. I can be certain that my current obligation will run for a time certain. This allows me to launch capital expenditures, strategically deploy capital, and to secure appropriate risk management devices."

Ohio previously had a 15-year statute on written contracts until 2012. He pointed to similar steps taken by Kentucky and other states, saying they risk putting Ohio at a competitive disadvantage.

"A significant, tangible cost savings will result for business by removing the necessity to retain eight years of documents," Rep. Lang said. "More and more, document retention is becoming a cost driver for business. Limiting the need to only three years, will remove a key burden on businesses."

17 S. High St., Suite 630
Columbus Ohio 43215

Phone: 614-221-1992 | Fax: 614-221-7844 | Email: gongwer@gongwer-oh.com

Scott Miller, President | Kent Cahlander, Editor | Mike Livingston, Dustin Ensinger, Jon Reed, Tom Gallick, Staff Writers

Click the  after a bill number to create a saved search and email alert for that bill.

© 2018, Gongwer News Service, Inc. Reproduction of this publication in whole or in part without the express permission of the publisher is in violation of the federal Copyright Law (17 USC 101 et seq.) as is retransmission by facsimile or any other electronic means, including electronic mail.

From: EdWeek Update

Sent: Monday, July 9, 2018 2:10 AM

To: Derksen, Nick

Subject: Trump Withdraws Obama-Era Guidance on Racial Diversity in K-12, Higher Ed.

Follow Up Flag: Follow up

Flag Status: Completed

Your daily education news and insight for July 9, 2018. View as web page.

INSPIRING TODAY'S STUDENTS
TO BE TOMORROW'S ENTREPRENEURS

Learn More

EDUCATION WEEK

EDWEEK UPDATE >

Trump Withdraws Obama-Era Guidance on Racial Diversity in K-12, Higher Ed.

The administration rescinded guidance that emphasized permissible ways for schools and colleges to take race into account to promote student diversity. Read more.

Share:

Advertisement

Are you doing too much for your students? The new Who's Doing the Work? Lesson Sets for grades K-2 by Burkins & Yaris give teachers guidance and practice on asking better questions, using wait time, and employing group and partner work to lead students to reading independence. 30 lessons per grade. Get details and a free lesson sampler!

Most Teachers Say Feedback Has Improved Their Instruction, Survey Finds

A new national survey by the RAND Corporation sheds some light on how teachers value feedback and classroom observations in evaluation systems. Read more.

After 'Janus' Ruling, Teachers Are Suing for Return of Fees They've Paid Their Unions

"This lawsuit will enable teachers like me to recover the agency fees that we were wrongly forced to pay against our will," said one of the plaintiffs.

Read more.

Advertisement

Six ways to shore up equitable instruction in a tiered curriculum

Educational leaders can consider six actionable strategies when creating curriculum programs to serve increasingly diverse and special populations of students, close performance gaps, and ensure achievement for all. Schools and districts that apply these strategies can potentially gain an advantage when it comes to addressing all students' academic needs. Download Whitepaper

Parkland School Shooting Survivors Kick Off Bus Tour in Dallas

Survivors of the school shooting in Parkland, Fla., started their "Road to Change" bus tour June 7, promoting gun restrictions and registering voters, while students with pro-gun messages held their own rallies in cities nationwide. Read more.

OPINION

What Prevents Deserving Students From Accessing Their College Dreams

"There's a barrier to some promising students looking for college financial assistance," writes this former state teacher of the year. "But there's also hope." Read more.

Advertisement

Join our free K-12 online job fair!

Chat 1:1 with recruiters from across the nation (urban, rural and everywhere in between) looking to fill teacher and admin positions for the 2018-2019 school year. This online event takes place on Thursday, July 19 from 11 AM to 3 PM ET, so you can join anytime your schedule allows throughout the day, from your home or office. REGISTER NOW - it takes just 2 minutes!

MORE NEWS

NEA Delegates Vote Against Opening Up Membership to Non-Educators

Ferguson, Mo., District's School Board Elections Violate Voting Rights Act, Court Rules

Teacher, Principal, Nurse, and Snake Handler: In This Rural Wyoming School, One Woman Does It All

Big-Name Charter School Backers Donate to Key Governor Races

MORE VIEWS

The Blessings of Liberty Include Fully Public Education

Why We Can't Have Social and Emotional Learning Without Equity

'Social Media Helps Teachers and Students Flatten the Schoolhouse Walls'

The Joy of Summer Projects

Don't 'Ignore' Staff Conflict in Schools

How to Start a Community Book Club That Centers Student Voice (Video)

MOST POPULAR STORIES

- 1. The Largest Teachers' Union Predicts a 14 Percent Membership Loss Over Two Years
- 2. It's Time to Rethink School Schedules, Report Says
- 3. 'An Expensive Experiment': Gates Teacher-Effectiveness Program Shows No Gains for Students
- 4. Blaming Parents of Color for Their Own Oppression Is an American Pastime (Commentary)
- 5. Student-Teacher Relationships Are Everything

---

TopSchoolJobs

+ High School Math Teacher Moreau Catholic High School, Hayward, California

- + Online Job Fair for Teaching Jobs in K-12 TopSchoolJobs eXPO, Jobs Nationwide and International
- + Chief Communications Officer Fulton County Schools, Atlanta, Georgia
- + Superintendent, San Dieguito Union High School District Hazard, Young, Attea & Associates, Encinitas, California

Browse top education jobs. Search Jobs>>

Recruit top education professionals. Post a Job>>

Update Preferences | Customer Care | Editor Feedback | Advertising

This message was intended for nick.derkser@ohiohouse.gov. You are receiving this free e-newsletter because you requested it when you registered on edweek.org or teachermagazine.org. To change your e-newsletter subscriptions or other email preferences, please click here.

This free e-newsletter is a service of Editorial Projects in Education, Inc., 6935 Arlington Road, Suite 100, Bethesda, MD 20814. EPE is the publisher of Education Week, Digital Directions, Teacher Professional Development Sourcebook, edweek.org, teachermagazine.org, DigitalDirections.org, TeacherSourcebook.org, and TopSchoolJobs.org.

Copyright © 2018 Editorial Projects in Education.

From: EdWeek Update

Sent: Monday, July 9, 2018 2:10 AM

To: Derksen, Nick

Subject: Trump Withdraws Obama-Era Guidance on Racial Diversity in K-12, Higher Ed.

Follow Up Flag: Follow up

Flag Status: Completed

Your daily education news and insight for July 9, 2018. View as web page.

INSPIRING TODAY'S STUDENTS
TO BE TOMORROW'S ENTREPRENEURS

Learn More

EDUCATION WEEK

EDWEEK UPDATE >

Trump Withdraws Obama-Era Guidance on Racial Diversity in K-12, Higher Ed.

The administration rescinded guidance that emphasized permissible ways for schools and colleges to take race into account to promote student diversity. Read more.

Share:

Advertisement

Are you doing too much for your students? The new Who's Doing the Work? Lesson Sets for grades K-2 by Burkins & Yaris give teachers guidance and practice on asking better questions, using wait time, and employing group and partner work to lead students to reading independence. 30 lessons per grade. Get details and a free lesson sampler!

Most Teachers Say Feedback Has Improved Their Instruction, Survey Finds

A new national survey by the RAND Corporation sheds some light on how teachers value feedback and classroom observations in evaluation systems. Read more.

After 'Janus' Ruling, Teachers Are Suing for Return of Fees They've Paid Their Unions

"This lawsuit will enable teachers like me to recover the agency fees that we were wrongly forced to pay against our will," said one of the plaintiffs.

Read more.

Advertisement

Six ways to shore up equitable instruction in a tiered curriculum

Educational leaders can consider six actionable strategies when creating curriculum programs to serve increasingly diverse and special populations of students, close performance gaps, and ensure achievement for all. Schools and districts that apply these strategies can potentially gain an advantage when it comes to addressing all students' academic needs. Download Whitepaper

Parkland School Shooting Survivors Kick Off Bus Tour in Dallas

Survivors of the school shooting in Parkland, Fla., started their "Road to Change" bus tour June 7, promoting gun restrictions and registering voters,

while students with pro-gun messages held their own rallies in cities nationwide. Read more.

OPINION

What Prevents Deserving Students From Accessing Their College Dreams

"There's a barrier to some promising students looking for college financial assistance," writes this former state teacher of the year. "But there's also hope." Read more.

Advertisement

Join our free K-12 online job fair!

Chat 1:1 with recruiters from across the nation (urban, rural and everywhere in between) looking to fill teacher and admin positions for the 2018-2019 school year. This online event takes place on Thursday, July 19 from 11 AM to 3 PM ET, so you can join anytime your schedule allows throughout the day, from your home or office. REGISTER NOW - it takes just 2 minutes!

MORE NEWS

NEA Delegates Vote Against Opening Up Membership to Non-Educators

Ferguson, Mo., District's School Board Elections Violate Voting Rights Act, Court Rules

Teacher, Principal, Nurse, and Snake Handler: in This Rural Wyoming School, One Woman Does It All

Big-Name Charter School Backers Donate to Key Governor Races

MORE VIEWS

The Blessings of Liberty Include Fully Public Education

Why We Can't Have Social and Emotional Learning Without Equity

'Social Media Helps Teachers and Students Flatten the Schoolhouse Walls'

The Joy of Summer Projects

Don't 'Ignore' Staff Conflict in Schools

How to Start a Community Book Club That Centers Student Voice (Video)

MOST POPULAR STORIES

1. The Largest Teachers' Union Predicts a 14 Percent Membership Loss Over Two Years
2. It's Time to Rethink School Schedules, Report Says
3. 'An Expensive Experiment': Gates Teacher-Effectiveness Program Shows No Gains for Students
4. Blaming Parents of Color for Their Own Oppression Is an American Pastime (Commentary)
5. Student-Teacher Relationships Are Everything

---

TopSchoolJobs

+ High School Math Teacher Moreau Catholic High School, Hayward, California

- + Online Job Fair for Teaching Jobs in K-12, TopSchoolJobs eXPO, Jobs Nationwide and International
- + Chief Communications Officer Fulton County Schools, Atlanta, Georgia
- + Superintendent, San Dieguito Union High School District Hazard, Young, Attea & Associates, Encinitas, California

Browse top education jobs. Search Jobs>>

Recruit top education professionals. Post a Job>>

Update Preferences | Customer Care | Editor Feedback | Advertising

This message was intended for nick.derkson@ohiohouse.gov. You are receiving this free e-newsletter because you requested it when you registered on edweek.org or teachermagazine.org. To change your e-newsletter subscriptions or other email preferences, please click here.

This free e-newsletter is a service of Editorial Projects in Education, Inc., 6935 Arlington Road, Suite 100, Bethesda, MD 20814. EPE is the publisher of Education Week, Digital Directions, Teacher Professional Development Sourcebook, edweek.org, teachermagazine.org, DigitalDirections.org, TeacherSourcebook.org, and TopSchoolJobs.org.

Copyright © 2018 Editorial Projects in Education.

From: EdWeek Update

Sent: Wednesday, July 11, 2018 2:12 AM

To: Derksen, Nick

Subject: Ex-Skinhead and Hate-Crime Victim Team Up to Teach Compassion

Follow Up Flag: Follow up

Flag Status: Completed

Your daily education news and insight for July 11, 2018. View as web page.

EDUCATION WEEK WEBINAR

Cross-Curricular Instructional Principles to Prepare
More ELA Students for AP and College

Content provided by

Collegeboard SpringBoard

THUR
JULY
2 TO

EDUCATION WEEK

EDWEEK

UPDATE >

Ex-Skinhead and Hate-Crime Victim Team Up to Teach Compassion

A former leader of a white supremacist group partners with a man whose father was killed in a racially motivated shooting at a Sikh temple to teach students to bridge their differences and learn to forgive. Read more.

Share:

Advertisement

NEW:

"You'll find this book incredibly helpful." -Mike Flynn. Why Write in Math Class? K-5 by Linda Dacey helps you build on the success of math talk to get a window into students' thinking and help them construct, explore, represent, refine, connect, and reflect on mathematical ideas. Preview the entire book!

After Supreme Court Blow, Defiant Union Looks Ahead

Despite leaders' messages of defiance and solidarity, reminders of the Supreme Court's recent decision to abolish agency fees-and its financial implications for teachers' unions-were everywhere at the National Education Association's yearly convention. Read more.

Teachers Just Want to Raise Your Taxes, Arizona Governor Says

Gov. Doug Ducey, a Republican, is part of a growing list of Republican candidates in this fall's midterm election who have described teachers as greedy, insatiable and with ulterior motives. Read more.

Advertisement

The EdTech Efficacy Handbook

In this guide for district leaders and educators, we'll explain why you should insist on both-and show you where to find evidence-based information on solutions that truly move the needle and improve outcomes. Download Whitepaper

There Are Ways to Reduce Summer Learning Loss (Video)

Summer learning loss is real, and it adds up. Here are some tips on how districts, schools, and parents can help minimize the summer brain drain. Read more.

Controversial Discipline Program Not to Blame for Parkland School Shooting, Commission Finds

A controversial school discipline program designed to reduce student arrests cannot be blamed for a shooting by a former student in Parkland, Fla., a state commission said Tuesday. Read more.

Advertisement

Join our free K-12 online job fair!

Chat 1:1 with recruiters from across the nation (urban, rural and everywhere in between) looking to fill teacher and admin positions for the 2018-2019 school year. This online event takes place on Thursday, July 19 from 11 AM to 3 PM ET, so you can join anytime your schedule allows throughout the day, from your home or office. REGISTER NOW - it takes just 2 minutes!

EDUCATION WEEK
TopSchoolJobs

MORE NEWS

13 Years Post-Katrina, New Orleans' Elected School Board Is Back in Control

ECOT Fallout: Missing Students, Returned Donations, Criminal Accusations

Keep School Discipline Directive, District Leaders and Charter Schools Tell DeVos

EXPLAINER

Homeschooling: Requirements, Research, and Who Does It

MORE VIEWS

Looking for 'Solutions' in the Face of Staff Conflict

Place-Based Education: Think Globally, Teach Locally

Problem-Based Learning: Preparing Students for the Race of Their Lives

Maximize Your Conference Visit: The Real Work Is in the Follow-Up

FROM THE ARCHIVES

Here's What's Wrong With Bloom's Taxonomy: A Deeper Learning Perspective

MOST POPULAR STORIES

1. Trump Withdraws Obama-Era Guidance on Racial Diversity in K-12, Higher Ed.
2. After Janus Ruling, Teachers Are Suing for Return of Fees They've Paid Their Unions
3. It's Time to Rethink School Schedules, Report Says
4. Shifting the Grading Mindset Starts With Our Words
5. Most Teachers Say Feedback Has Improved Their Instruction, Survey Finds

---

TopSchoolJobs

- + High School Math Teacher Moreau Catholic High School, Hayward, California
- + Online Job Fair for Teaching Jobs in K-12 TopSchoolJobs eXPO, Jobs Nationwide and International
- + Superintendent, San Dieguito Union High School District Hazard, Young, Attea & Associates, Encinitas, California
- + Chief Communications Officer Fulton County Schools, Atlanta, Georgia

Browse top education jobs. Search Jobs>>

Recruit top education professionals. Post a Job>>

---

Update Preferences | Customer Care | Editor Feedback | Advertising

This message was intended for nick.derksen@ohiohouse.gov. You are receiving this free e-newsletter because you requested it when you registered on edweek.org or teachermagazine.org. To change your e-newsletter subscriptions or other email preferences, please click here.

This free e-newsletter is a service of Editorial Projects in Education, Inc., 6935 Arlington Road, Suite 100, Bethesda, MD 20814. EPE is the publisher of Education Week, Digital Directions, Teacher Professional Development Sourcebook, edweek.org, teachermagazine.org, DigitalDirections.org, TeacherSourcebook.org, and TopSchoolJobs.org.

Copyright © 2018 Editorial Projects in Education.

From: EdWeek Update

Sent: Wednesday, July 11, 2018 2:12 AM

To: Derksen, Nick

Subject: Ex-Skinhead and Hate-Crime Victim Team Up to Teach Compassion

Follow Up Flag: Follow up

Flag Status: Completed

Your daily education news and insight for July 11, 2018. View as web page.

EDUCATION WEEK WEBINAR

Cross-Curricular Instructional Principles to Prepare
More ELA Students for AP and College

Content provided by

Collegeboard Springboard

THUR
JULY
2 TO

EDUCATION WEEK

EDWEEK UPDATE >

Ex-Skinhead and Hate-Crime Victim Team Up to Teach Compassion

A former leader of a white supremacist group partners with a man whose father was killed in a racially motivated shooting at a Sikh temple to teach students to bridge their differences and learn to forgive. Read more.

Share:

Advertisement

NEW:

"You'll find this book incredibly helpful." -Mike Flynn. Why Write in Math Class? K-5 by Linda Dacey helps you build on the success of math talk to get a window into students' thinking and help them construct, explore, represent, refine, connect, and reflect on mathematical ideas. Preview the entire book!

After Supreme Court Blow, Defiant Union Looks Ahead

Despite leaders' messages of defiance and solidarity, reminders of the Supreme Court's recent decision to abolish agency fees-and its financial implications for teachers' unions-were everywhere at the National Education Association's yearly convention. Read more.

Teachers Just Want to Raise Your Taxes, Arizona Governor Says

Gov. Doug Ducey, a Republican, is part of a growing list of Republican candidates in this fall's midterm election who have described teachers as greedy, insatiable and with ulterior motives. Read more.

Advertisement

The EdTech Efficacy Handbook

In this guide for district leaders and educators, we'll explain why you should insist on both-and show you where to find evidence-based information on solutions that truly move the needle and improve outcomes. Download Whitepaper

There Are Ways to Reduce Summer Learning Loss (Video)

Summer learning loss is real, and it adds up. Here are some tips on how districts, schools, and parents can help minimize the summer brain drain. Read more.

Controversial Discipline Program Not to Blame for Parkland School Shooting, Commission Finds

A controversial school discipline program designed to reduce student arrests cannot be blamed for a shooting by a former student in Parkland, Fla., a state commission said Tuesday. Read more.

Advertisement

Join our free K-12 online job fair!

Chat 1:1 with recruiters from across the nation (urban, rural and everywhere in between) looking to fill teacher and admin positions for the 2018-2019 school year. This online event takes place on Thursday, July 19 from 11 AM to 3 PM ET, so you can join anytime your schedule allows throughout the day, from your home or office. REGISTER NOW - it takes just 2 minutes!

EDUCATION WEEK
TopSchoolJobs

MORE NEWS

13 Years Post-Katrina, New Orleans' Elected School Board Is Back in Control

ECOT Fallout: Missing Students, Returned Donations, Criminal Accusations

Keep School Discipline Directive, District Leaders and Charter Schools Tell DeVos

EXPLAINER

Homeschooling: Requirements, Research, and Who Does It

MORE VIEWS

Looking for 'Solutions' in the Face of Staff Conflict

Place-Based Education: Think Globally, Teach Locally

Problem-Based Learning: Preparing Students for the Race of Their Lives

Maximize Your Conference Visit: The Real Work Is in the Follow-Up

FROM THE ARCHIVES

Here's What's Wrong With Bloom's Taxonomy: A Deeper Learning Perspective

MOST POPULAR STORIES

1. Trump Withdraws Obama-Era Guidance on Racial Diversity in K-12, Higher Ed.
2. After Janus Ruling, Teachers Are Suing for Return of Fees They've Paid Their Unions
3. It's Time to Rethink School Schedules, Report Says
4. Shifting the Grading Mindset Starts With Our Words
5. Most Teachers Say Feedback Has Improved Their Instruction, Survey Finds

---

TopSchoolJobs

- + High School Math Teacher Moreau Catholic High School, Hayward, California
- + Online Job Fair for Teaching Jobs in K-12 TopSchoolJobs eXPO, Jobs Nationwide and International
- + Superintendent, San Dieguito Union High School District Hazard, Young, Attea & Associates, Encinitas, California
- + Chief Communications Officer Fulton County Schools, Atlanta, Georgia

Browse top education jobs. Search Jobs>>

Recruit top education professionals. Post a Job>>

---

Update Preferences | Customer Care | Editor Feedback | Advertising

This message was intended for nick.derksen@ohiohouse.gov. You are receiving this free e-newsletter because you requested it when you registered on edweek.org or teachermagazine.org. To change your e-newsletter subscriptions or other email preferences, please click here.

This free e-newsletter is a service of Editorial Projects in Education, Inc., 6935 Arlington Road, Suite 100, Bethesda, MD 20814. EPE is the publisher of Education Week, Digital Directions, Teacher Professional Development Sourcebook, edweek.org, teachermagazine.org, DigitalDirections.org, TeacherSourcebook.org, and TopSchoolJobs.org.

Copyright © 2018 Editorial Projects in Education.

From: Thomas B. Fordham Institute

Sent: Wednesday, July 11, 2018 2:01 PM

To: Derksen, Nick

Subject: The Education Gadfly Weekly: Where education reform goes from here

Follow Up Flag: Follow up

Flag Status: Completed

THE EDUCATION GADFLY WEEKLY

VOLUME 18 NUMBER 27 | JULY 11, 2018

WHERE EDUCATION REFORM GOES FROM HERE

By Michael J. Petrilli

Performance frameworks should account for student mobility

By Rob Kremer and Matt Wicks

Could education technology plus student motivation yield game-changing results?

By Adam Tyner

OPINION

Where education reform goes from here

By Michael J. Petrilli

After two decades of mostly-forward movement and many big wins, the last few years have been a tough patch for education reform. But this is no time to declare defeat. It's not just that America's children, especially those growing up in poverty, depend on us to improve their schools dramatically, lest they be sentenced to a life of low-wage jobs and lagging social mobility. Or that the country will continue to suffer from political and socioeconomic divisions and dwindling global competitiveness if we don't better prepare young people for brighter futures. It's also that we might be throwing in the towel prematurely. Read more.

Performance frameworks should account for student mobility

By Rob Kremer and Matt Wicks

There's been much debate in education policy circles of late about whether it's appropriate for states and charter authorizers to base school accountability actions solely upon the performance ratings derived from states' ESSA accountability frameworks. The authors of this essay, who both work at Pearson, strongly favor this framework-based approach. States should take care, however, to ensure that their systems accurately measure the performance of all types of schools. Recent research indicates that key metrics in those accountability frameworks—especially student-growth calculations—can be inaccurate when applied to schools with high levels of student mobility, due to the fact that many youngsters experience temporary achievement declines when they change schools. Read more.

Could education technology plus student motivation yield game-changing results?

By Adam Tyner

In a 2014 TED Talk, David Ray, the former dean of the University of Oklahoma Honors College, reflects frankly on his nearly forty years of experience teaching undergraduates with a range of motivation, and touches on the importance of drive. Though many students may be working hard at other things—taking multiple jobs to support families or to pay for ever higher tuition—Dr. Ray argues convincingly that students are working much less on their studies than in the past. But education reform, especially with advances in education technology, can help fix that. Read more.

---

FROM FORDHAM'S ARCHIVES

DECEMBER 2017

Has the high school diploma lost all meaning?

By Brandon L. Wright

Late last year, an NPR affiliate threw cold water on a D.C. high school's putative success in graduating 64 percent of its seniors and earning every senior, regardless of whether they graduated, college acceptance. More than half of those cap-and-gown-wearers tallied at least sixty days of unexcused school absences, and the school's test scores indicated that its students were seriously unprepared for higher education. But this isn't a unique case. It's an extreme example of a nationwide trend in which we've simultaneously lowered the bar for high school graduation<sup>3</sup> The nationwide rate is at an all-time high—while pushing for more high school graduates to attend college. It's absurd and untenable, and things must change. Read more.

THE EDUCATION GADFLY SHOW

DOES THE ADMISSIONS PROCESS FOR NEW YORK CITY'S SELECTIVE HIGH SCHOOLS NEED FIXING?

On this week's podcast, David Griffith, Adam Tyner, and Brandon Wright discuss New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio's plan to revamp the admissions process for the city's selective high schools. On the Research Minute, Amber Northern examines why ELL kids are doing better than we think on NAEP.

REVIEWS

STUDY

Can school accountability policies improve working conditions?

By Aaron Churchill

A–F school rating systems are hotly debated across the country. Proponents usually argue that they provide clear information that parents and communities can easily digest, while also motivating schools to improve. Critics often claim that such blunt ratings blur key elements of school performance and can damage schools' reputations and demoralize educators. A recent study by Rebecca Dizon-Ross examines the impacts of A–F school accountability in New York City on teacher turnover and quality, as estimated by value added measures. It finds, among other things, that the city's policy reforms reduced teacher turnover and likely increased teacher quality in the city's lowest-rated schools. Read more.

STUDY

Evaluating Tennessee's school-turnaround efforts

By Jessica Poiner

Since 2012, Tennessee has taken a unique approach to intervening in struggling schools. With the goal of turning around the lowest-performing 5 percent of schools, officials introduced two separate models: the Achievement School District and Innovation Zones. The former is a state-run district that directly manages some low-performing schools and turns over others to select charter management organizations; the latter are clusters of struggling schools that remain under district control but are granted greater autonomy and financial support to implement interventions. A new study examines the impacts of both initiatives after five years of implementation. Overall, the results for ASD schools were disappointing, but those of iZone schools were positive. Read more.

WHAT WE'RE READING

- David Brooks reflects on Anthony Kennedy, autonomy, and society. —New York Times
- The executive director of the PIE (Policy Innovators in Education) Network steps down after more than a decade at the helm. —74 Million

- "Partisan identity is now stronger and more meaningful for many Americans than race, ethnicity, or religious denomination—and is viewed as a more legitimate justification for discrimination." —AEI
- Paymon Rouhanifard is stepping down as Camden's superintendent, but there's a lot to learn from his politically savvy tenure: "Camden didn't need a messiah. It needed a pragmatist." —Politico
- The Trump administration will encourage "race-neutral" admissions policies in education, reversing an Obama-era approach. —Education Writers Association
- Ohio's legislature passed e-school bills last week in an attempt to clean up a "broken system." —Columbus Dispatch
- Two-ninths of the U.S. Supreme Court may soon hail from one D.C. high school. —Washingtonian
- "DeVos presses pause on special education rule, highlighting ongoing discrimination debate." —Chalkbeat
- Louisiana's education reform results have been proving that policy changes can work. A new report explores what the state's doing right. —RAND

ICYMI

THE HIGH FLYER | JULY 9, 2018

Access to gifted education is a social justice issue

By Rudy Crew

The world is beset by inequality, argues the president of Medgar Evers College. But education leaders can help mitigate this by creating a more level playing field that enables minority and low-income students to be identified and served in gifted education programs. There are lots of disadvantaged students? 4children of color, children whose first language is not English, children living in poverty—who can't access gifted programs. Some don't know about them, others are unfairly and inaccurately viewed as unqualified. But many of these children have latent abilities that may never be realized. Developing them and encouraging more and better identification can help change that. Read more.

FLYPAPER | JULY 6, 2018

Don't jump for Janus

By Dale Chu

The recent Janus ruling was one of the most significant by the U.S. Supreme Court in years, especially with regard to education. Conservatives generally celebrated the outcome, but it's wrong to suppose that it will lead to unions' demise. Yes, the high court's striking down of agency fees will result in fewer members and less money. But unions will still have collective bargaining rights and, as a result, much continued influence in education politics at the local level. Read more.

OHIO GADFLY DAILY | JULY 10, 2018

Ohio's dual credit landscape: A primer

By Jessica Poiner

With college tuition at an all-time high, Ohio families are increasingly interested in finding ways to save on costs. Dual credit is a promising solution because it offers students the chance to earn high school and college credits simultaneously. The state has a plethora of dual-credit options, but some are better known to families than others. This article gives a quick overview of the three types of Ohio offerings: awarded credit, transcribed credit, and articulated credit. Read more.

Want to read this all in one place? Check out Gadfly Original!

Share on

Have something to say? Email us at thegadfly@edexcellence.net.

The Thomas B. Fordham Institute
1016 16th St. NW, Floor 8, Washington, DC 20036
202-223-5452

---

This email was sent to nick.derksen@ohiohouse.gov

why did I get this? unsubscribe from this list update subscription preferences

Thomas B. Fordham Institute · 1016 16th St. NW · Floor 8 · Washington, DC 20036 · USA

From: Thomas B. Fordham Institute

Sent: Wednesday, July 11, 2018 2:01 PM

To: Derksen, Nick

Subject: The Education Gadfly Weekly: Where education reform goes from here

Follow Up Flag: Follow up

Flag Status: Completed

THE EDUCATION GADFLY WEEKLY

VOLUME 18 NUMBER 27 | JULY 11, 2018

WHERE EDUCATION REFORM GOES FROM HERE

By Michael J. Petrilli

Performance frameworks should account for student mobility

By Rob Kremer and Matt Wicks

Could education technology plus student motivation yield game-changing results?

By Adam Tyner

---

OPINION

---

Where education reform goes from here

By Michael J. Petrilli

After two decades of mostly-forward movement and many big wins, the last few years have been a tough patch for education reform. But this is no time to declare defeat. It's not just that America's children, especially those growing up in poverty, depend on us to improve their schools dramatically, lest they be sentenced to a life of low-wage jobs and lagging social mobility. Or that the country will continue to suffer from political and socioeconomic divisions and dwindling global competitiveness if we don't better prepare young people for brighter futures. It's also that we might be throwing in the towel prematurely. Read more.

Performance frameworks should account for student mobility

By Rob Kremer and Matt Wicks

There's been much debate in education policy circles of late about whether it's appropriate for states and charter authorizers to base school accountability actions solely upon the performance ratings derived from states' ESSA accountability frameworks. The authors of this essay, who both work at Pearson, strongly favor this framework-based approach. States should take care, however, to ensure that their systems accurately measure the performance of all types of schools. Recent research indicates that key metrics in those accountability frameworks—especially student-growth calculations—can be inaccurate when applied to schools with high levels of student mobility, due to the fact that many youngsters experience temporary achievement declines when they change schools. Read more.

Could education technology plus student motivation yield game-changing results?

By Adam Tyner

In a 2014 TED Talk, David Ray, the former dean of the University of Oklahoma Honors College, reflects frankly on his nearly forty years of experience teaching undergraduates with a range of motivation, and touches on the importance of drive. Though many students may be working hard at other things—taking multiple jobs to support families or to pay for ever higher tuition—Dr. Ray argues convincingly that students are working much less on their studies than in the past. But education reform, especially with advances in education technology, can help fix that. Read more.

---

FROM FORDHAM'S ARCHIVES

DECEMBER 2017

Has the high school diploma lost all meaning?

By Brandon L. Wright

Late last year, an NPR affiliate threw cold water on a D.C. high school's putative success in graduating 64 percent of its seniors and earning every senior, regardless of whether they graduated, college acceptance. More than half of those cap-and-gown-wearers tallied at least sixty days of unexcused school absences, and the school's test scores indicated that its students were seriously unprepared for higher education. But this isn't a unique case. It's an extreme example of a nationwide trend in which we've simultaneously lowered the bar for high school graduation<sup>3</sup> 0the nationwide rate is at an all-time high—while pushing for more high school graduates to attend college. It's absurd and untenable, and things must change. Read more.

THE EDUCATION GADFLY SHOW

DOES THE ADMISSIONS PROCESS FOR NEW YORK CITY'S SELECTIVE HIGH SCHOOLS NEED FIXING?

On this week's podcast, David Griffith, Adam Tyner, and Brandon Wright discuss New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio's plan to revamp the admissions process for the city's selective high schools. On the Research Minute, Amber Northern examines why ELL kids are doing better than we think on NAEP.

REVIEWS

STUDY

Can school accountability policies improve working conditions?

By Aaron Churchill

A–F school rating systems are hotly debated across the country. Proponents usually argue that they provide clear information that parents and communities can easily digest, while also motivating schools to improve. Critics often claim that such blunt ratings blur key elements of school performance and can damage schools' reputations and demoralize educators. A recent study by Rebecca Dizon-Ross examines the impacts of A–F school accountability in New York City on teacher turnover and quality, as estimated by value added measures. It finds, among other things, that the city's policy reforms reduced teacher turnover and likely increased teacher quality in the city's lowest-rated schools. Read more.

STUDY

Evaluating Tennessee's school-turnaround efforts

By Jessica Poiner

Since 2012, Tennessee has taken a unique approach to intervening in struggling schools. With the goal of turning around the lowest-performing 5 percent of schools, officials introduced two separate models: the Achievement School District and Innovation Zones. The former is a state-run district that directly manages some low-performing schools and turns over others to select charter management organizations; the latter are clusters of struggling schools that remain under district control but are granted greater autonomy and financial support to implement interventions. A new study examines the impacts of both initiatives after five years of implementation. Overall, the results for ASD schools were disappointing, but those of iZone schools were positive. Read more.

WHAT WE'RE READING

- David Brooks reflects on Anthony Kennedy, autonomy, and society. —New York Times
- The executive director of the PIE (Policy Innovators in Education) Network steps down after more than a decade at the helm. —74 Million

- "Partisan identity is now stronger and more meaningful for many Americans than race, ethnicity, or religious denomination—and is viewed as a more legitimate justification for discrimination." —AEI
- Paymon Rouhanifard is stepping down as Camden's superintendent, but there's a lot to learn from his politically savvy tenure: "Camden didn't need a messiah. It needed a pragmatist." —Politico
- The Trump administration will encourage "race-neutral" admissions policies in education, reversing an Obama-era approach. —Education Writers Association
- Ohio's legislature passed e-school bills last week in an attempt to clean up a "broken system." —Columbus Dispatch
- Two-ninths of the U.S. Supreme Court may soon hail from one D.C. high school. —Washingtonian
- "DeVos presses pause on special education rule, highlighting ongoing discrimination debate." —Chalkbeat
- Louisiana's education reform results have been proving that policy changes can work. A new report explores what the state's doing right. —RAND

ICYMI

THE HIGH FLYER | JULY 9, 2018

Access to gifted education is a social justice issue

By Rudy Crew

The world is beset by inequality, argues the president of Medgar Evers College. But education leaders can help mitigate this by creating a more level playing field that enables minority and low-income students to be identified and served in gifted education programs. There are lots of disadvantaged students? 4children of color, children whose first language is not English, children living in poverty—who can't access gifted programs. Some don't know about them, others are unfairly and inaccurately viewed as unqualified. But many of these children have latent abilities that may never be realized. Developing them and encouraging more and better identification can help change that. Read more.

FLYPAPER | JULY 6, 2018

Don't jump for Janus

By Dale Chu

The recent Janus ruling was one of the most significant by the U.S. Supreme Court in years, especially with regard to education. Conservatives generally celebrated the outcome, but it's wrong to suppose that it will lead to unions' demise. Yes, the high court's striking down of agency fees will result in fewer members and less money. But unions will still have collective bargaining rights and, as a result, much continued influence in education politics at the local level. Read more.

OHIO GADFLY DAILY | JULY 10, 2018

Ohio's dual credit landscape: A primer

By Jessica Poiner

With college tuition at an all-time high, Ohio families are increasingly interested in finding ways to save on costs. Dual credit is a promising solution because it offers students the chance to earn high school and college credits simultaneously. The state has a plethora of dual-credit options, but some are better known to families than others. This article gives a quick overview of the three types of Ohio offerings: awarded credit, transcribed credit, and articulated credit. Read more.

Want to read this all in one place? Check out Gadfly Original!

Share on

Have something to say? Email us at thegadfly@edexcellence.net.

The Thomas B. Fordham Institute
1016 16th St. NW, Floor 8, Washington, DC 20036
202-223-5452

This email was sent to nick.derksen@ohiohouse.gov
why did I get this? unsubscribe from this list update subscription preferences
Thomas B. Fordham Institute · 1016 16th St. NW · Floor 8 · Washington, DC 20036 · USA

From: Teacher Update
Sent: Thursday, July 12, 2018 3:00 AM
To: Derksen, Nick
Subject: To Understand Your Students, Use 'Compassionate Curiosity' (Opinion)

Follow Up Flag: Follow up
Flag Status: Completed

Weekly news and resources for teacher leaders, July 12, 2018. View as web page.

INSPIRING TODAY'S STUDENTS
TO BE TOMORROW'S ENTREPRENEURS

Learn More

EDUCATION WEEK

TEACHER LEADERS

UPDATE >

FIRST PERSON

Lessons From New York City Teachers' Paid Parental Leave Win

Teachers' unions must recommit to solving community-based concerns and taking on actions that influence structural power, writes Joh Troutman McCrann. Read more.

Share:

Advertisement

Step out of your daily routines and engage your students with Activate. You'll see how movement, talk, and simple changes to your classroom environment can stimulate learning for students in grades 5-9. Includes practical strategies that you can easily incorporate into your existing lessons. Preview the entire book!

FIRST PERSON

To Understand Your Students, Use 'Compassionate Curiosity'

When Kyle Redford stopped assuming that she knew the motivations behind her students' actions, she started to build stronger relationships. Read more.

Share:

Advertisement

The EdTech Efficacy Handbook

In this guide for district leaders and educators, we'll explain why you should insist on both—and show you where to find evidence-based information on solutions that truly move the needle and improve outcomes. Download Whitepaper

After Supreme Court Blow, Defiant Union Looks Ahead

Despite leaders' messages of defiance and solidarity, reminders of the Supreme Court's recent decision to abolish agency fees—and its financial implications for teachers' unions—were everywhere at the National Education Association's yearly convention. Read more.

• Janus, the Supreme Court, and Teachers' Unions: An Overview

Share:

Advertisement

Looking for a K-12 teaching job for 2018-2019?

Join our free job fair on Thursday, July 19! Chat 1:1 with recruiters from across the nation (urban, rural and everywhere in between!) looking to fill teaching positions in all subject areas. This online event takes place from 11 AM to 3 PM ET; join anytime, during your lunch break or after school - whenever your schedule allows! REGISTER NOW - it takes just 2 minutes!

MORE STORIES

The National Education Association to Establish a Fund for Teacher Strikes
After Janus Ruling, Teachers Are Suing for Return of Fees They've Paid Their Unions
Most Teachers Say Feedback Has Improved Their Instruction, Survey Finds
NEA President: We Will Fight the 'Drop Your Membership' Campaigns, Post Janus
NEA Delegates Vote Against Opening Up Membership to Non-Educators
Parkland Survivor David Hogg: Nothing More Powerful Than a 'Pissed-Off Teacher'
What's Ahead for Teachers' Unions? A Labor Expert Explains Janus Impact
Teachers Just Want to Raise Your Taxes, Arizona Governor Says

Follow @EdWeekTeacher on Twitter for more news and opinion on the teaching profession.

TEACHER VIEWS

Stop Writing That Obituary for Teachers' Unions. We're Not Going Anywhere
The Right-Wing Assault on Teachers' Unions Won't Win. It Only Makes Us Angrier
Why Charter School Teachers Should Care About the Janus Decision
Ready, Set, Grow: Setting Up Your Next Year Right Now
Looking for 'Solutions' in the Face of Staff Conflict
Build Learning Spaces That Inspire Innovation
The Joy of Summer Projects
How Social and Emotional Learning Fits in the Classroom

What Prevents Deserving Students From Accessing Their College Dreams

The Blessings of Liberty Include Fully Public Education

FEATURED TEACHING CHANNEL VIDEO

Analyzing Patterns in Ecosystems: A Next Gen Science Standards Lesson (Video)

This New York middle school teacher shows how her students apply reasoning and analysis skills to determine how organisms interact in ecosystems. Watch video.

EDUCATION WEEK FREE SPOTLIGHT

Social-Emotional Learning Spotlight

In this Spotlight, learn how schools are responding to students' developmental needs, the challenges to carrying out social-emotional learning, and how to find time for SEL in the classroom. See other Spotlights.

UPCOMING EVENTS

PREMIUM WEBINAR - Tuesday, July 17, 2018, 2 to 3 p.m. ET

Europe's Tough New Data-Privacy Law: Breaking Down GDPR for Companies

EdWeek Market Brief takes an in-depth look at Europe's sweeping new data privacy regulation, the General Data Protection Regulation, and at the huge implications it carries for K-12 education companies' practices. Click here to attend this free live event.

SPONSOR WEBINAR - Thursday, July 26, 2018, 2 to 3 p.m. ET

Cross-Curricular Instructional Principles to Prepare More ELA Students for AP and College

Join SpringBoard's Teacher of Distinction Amanda Shackelford to learn how the College Board's Shared Instructional Principles can be incorporated into your ELA classrooms to prepare more students for AP and college-level work. Click here to attend this free live event.

Content provided by: SpringBoard

MOST POPULAR STORIES

1. Shifting the Grading Mindset Starts With Our Words \(Opinion\)
2. What Happened When I Committed to Loving My Students Unconditionally \(Opinion\)
3. Report Names the Best Cities to Live in if You're a Teacher
4. High School Students Say Student-Led Discussions and Group Work Often Go Awry
5. Six Characteristics of a Great STEM Lesson \(Opinion\)

TopSchoolJobs

- + High School Math Teacher Moreau Catholic High School, Hayward, California
- + Online Job Fair for Teaching Jobs in K-12 TopSchoolJobs eXPO, Jobs Nationwide and International
- + Superintendent, San Dieguito Union High School District Hazard, Young, Attea & Associates, Encinitas, California
- + Chief Communications Officer Fulton County Schools, Atlanta, Georgia

Browse top education jobs. Search Jobs>>

Recruit top education professionals. Post a Job>>

Update Preferences | Customer Care | Editor Feedback | Advertising

This message was intended for nick.derkser@ohiohouse.gov. You are receiving this free e-newsletter because you requested it when you registered on edweek.org or teachermagazine.org. To change your e-newsletter subscriptions or other email preferences, please click here.

This free e-newsletter is a service of Editorial Projects in Education, Inc., 6935 Arlington Road, Suite 100, Bethesda, MD 20814. EPE is the publisher of Education Week, Digital Directions, Teacher Professional Development Sourcebook, edweek.org, teachermagazine.org, DigitalDirections.org, TeacherSourcebook.org, and TopSchoolJobs.org.

Copyright © 2018 Editorial Projects in Education.

From: Teacher Update
Sent: Thursday, July 12, 2018 3:00 AM
To: Derksen, Nick
Subject: To Understand Your Students, Use 'Compassionate Curiosity' (Opinion)

Follow Up Flag: Follow up
Flag Status: Completed

Weekly news and resources for teacher leaders, July 12, 2018. View as web page.

INSPIRING TODAY'S STUDENTS
TO BE TOMORROW'S ENTREPRENEURS

Learn More

EDUCATION WEEK

UPDATE >

FIRST PERSON

Lessons From New York City Teachers' Paid Parental Leave Win

Teachers' unions must recommit to solving community-based concerns and taking on actions that influence structural power, writes Joh Troutman McCrann. Read more.

Share:

Advertisement

Step out of your daily routines and engage your students with Activate. You'll see how movement, talk, and simple changes to your classroom environment can stimulate learning for students in grades 5-9. Includes practical strategies that you can easily incorporate into your existing lessons. Preview the entire book!

FIRST PERSON

To Understand Your Students, Use 'Compassionate Curiosity'

When Kyle Redford stopped assuming that she knew the motivations behind her students' actions, she started to build stronger relationships. Read more.

Share:

Advertisement

The EdTech Efficacy Handbook

In this guide for district leaders and educators, we'll explain why you should insist on both—and show you where to find evidence-based information on solutions that truly move the needle and improve outcomes. Download Whitepaper

After Supreme Court Blow, Defiant Union Looks Ahead

Despite leaders' messages of defiance and solidarity, reminders of the Supreme Court's recent decision to abolish agency fees—and its financial implications for teachers' unions—were everywhere at the National Education Association's yearly convention. Read more.

• Janus, the Supreme Court, and Teachers' Unions: An Overview

Share:

Advertisement

EDUCATION WEEK
TopSchoolJobs

Looking for a K-12 teaching job for 2018-2019?

Join our free job fair on Thursday, July 19! Chat 1:1 with recruiters from across the nation (urban, rural and everywhere in between!) looking to fill teaching positions in all subject areas. This online event takes place from 11 AM to 3 PM ET; join anytime, during your lunch break or after school - whenever your schedule allows! REGISTER NOW - it takes just 2 minutes!

MORE STORIES

The National Education Association to Establish a Fund for Teacher Strikes
After Janus Ruling, Teachers Are Suing for Return of Fees They've Paid Their Unions
Most Teachers Say Feedback Has Improved Their Instruction, Survey Finds
NEA President: We Will Fight the 'Drop Your Membership' Campaigns, Post Janus
NEA Delegates Vote Against Opening Up Membership to Non-Educators
Parkland Survivor David Hogg: Nothing More Powerful Than a 'Pissed-Off Teacher'
What's Ahead for Teachers' Unions? A Labor Expert Explains Janus Impact
Teachers Just Want to Raise Your Taxes, Arizona Governor Says

Follow @EdWeekTeacher on Twitter for more news and opinion on the teaching profession.

TEACHER VIEWS

Stop Writing That Obituary for Teachers' Unions. We're Not Going Anywhere
The Right-Wing Assault on Teachers' Unions Won't Win. It Only Makes Us Angrier
Why Charter School Teachers Should Care About the Janus Decision
Ready, Set, Grow: Setting Up Your Next Year Right Now
Looking for 'Solutions' in the Face of Staff Conflict
Build Learning Spaces That Inspire Innovation
The Joy of Summer Projects
How Social and Emotional Learning Fits in the Classroom

What Prevents Deserving Students From Accessing Their College Dreams

The Blessings of Liberty Include Fully Public Education

FEATURED TEACHING CHANNEL VIDEO

Analyzing Patterns in Ecosystems: A Next Gen Science Standards Lesson (Video)

This New York middle school teacher shows how her students apply reasoning and analysis skills to determine how organisms interact in ecosystems. Watch video.

EDUCATION WEEK FREE SPOTLIGHT

Social-Emotional Learning Spotlight

In this Spotlight, learn how schools are responding to students' developmental needs, the challenges to carrying out social-emotional learning, and how to find time for SEL in the classroom. See other Spotlights.

UPCOMING EVENTS

PREMIUM WEBINAR - Tuesday, July 17, 2018, 2 to 3 p.m. ET

Europe's Tough New Data-Privacy Law: Breaking Down GDPR for Companies

EdWeek Market Brief takes an in-depth look at Europe's sweeping new data privacy regulation, the General Data Protection Regulation, and at the huge implications it carries for K-12 education companies' practices.

Click here to attend this free live event.

SPONSOR WEBINAR - Thursday, July 26, 2018, 2 to 3 p.m. ET

Cross-Curricular Instructional Principles to Prepare More ELA Students for AP and College

Join SpringBoard's Teacher of Distinction Amanda Shackelford to learn how the College Board's Shared Instructional Principles can be incorporated into your ELA classrooms to prepare more students for AP and college-level work. Click here to attend this free live event.

Content provided by: SpringBoard

MOST POPULAR STORIES

1. Shifting the Grading Mindset Starts With Our Words \(Opinion\)
2. What Happened When I Committed to Loving My Students Unconditionally \(Opinion\)
3. Report Names the Best Cities to Live in if You're a Teacher
4. High School Students Say Student-Led Discussions and Group Work Often Go Awry
5. Six Characteristics of a Great STEM Lesson \(Opinion\)

TopSchoolJobs

- + High School Math Teacher Moreau Catholic High School, Hayward, California
- + Online Job Fair for Teaching Jobs in K-12 TopSchoolJobs eXPO, Jobs Nationwide and International
- + Superintendent San Dieguito Union High School District Hazard, Young, Attea & Associates, Encinitas, California
- + Chief Communications Officer Fulton County Schools, Atlanta, Georgia

Browse top education jobs. Search Jobs>>

Recruit top education professionals. Post a Job>>

Update Preferences | Customer Care | Editor Feedback | Advertising

This message was intended for nick.derkson@ohiohouse.gov. You are receiving this free e-newsletter because you requested it when you registered on edweek.org or teachermagazine.org. To change your e-newsletter subscriptions or other email preferences, please click here.

This free e-newsletter is a service of Editorial Projects in Education, Inc., 6935 Arlington Road, Suite 100, Bethesda, MD 20814. EPE is the publisher of Education Week, Digital Directions, Teacher Professional Development Sourcebook, edweek.org, teachermagazine.org, DigitalDirections.org, TeacherSourcebook.org, and TopSchoolJobs.org.

Copyright © 2018 Editorial Projects in Education

From: The Buckeye Institute
Sent: Thursday, July 20, 2017 11:45 AM
To: Derksen, Nick
Subject: The Buckeye Institute Files Amicus Brief in Janus v. AFSCME Supporting Free Speech

Follow Up Flag: Follow up
Flag Status: Completed

Unsubscribe

It appears that you have subscribed to commercial messages from this sender. To stop receiving such messages from this sender, please unsubscribe

THE BUCKEYE INSTITUTE

Contact: Lisa Gates, Vice President of Comms

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

July 20, 2017

(614) 224-3255 or Lisa@BuckeyeInstitute.org

The Buckeye Institute Files Amicus Brief in Janus v. AFSCME Supporting Free Speech

Columbus, OH - The Buckeye Institute filed an amicus brief with the Supreme Court of the United States in the case Janus v. AFSCME, supporting Mark Janus and the First Amendment. In the brief, Buckeye shows that unions can survive without compelled contributions and, alternatively, this change will lead unions to better serve their members.

"Forcing employees to pay for speech with which they disagree is a violation of their First Amendment rights," said Robert Alt, president and CEO of The Buckeye Institute. "Neither Mr. Janus, nor anyone else, should ever be forced to pay fees to a union just to keep their jobs. Such compulsion is fundamentally unjust and unconstitutional."

Illinois, among other states, forces public sector employees who opt out of the union to pay an agency fee, which is supposed to support the union for collective bargaining services, including lobbying on behalf of the union. As a result, Mr. Janus, a child support specialist with the Illinois Department of Healthcare and Family Services, is forced to pay fees to the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME), a government union, to keep his job.

As Mr. Janus said in a January 2016 op-ed in the Chicago Tribune:

"I went into this line of work because I care about kids. But just because I care about kids doesn't mean I also want to support a government union. Unfortunately, I have no choice. To keep my job at the state, I have to pay monthly fees to the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, or AFSCME, a public employee union that claims to 'represent' me...

"The union voice is not my voice. The union's fight is not my fight. But a piece of my paycheck every week still goes to the union. I am not anti-union. Unions have their place. And some people like them. But unions aren't a fit for everyone. And I shouldn't be forced to pay money to a union if I don't think it does a good job representing my interests."

The Buckeye Institute's amicus brief was filed on July 7, 2017.

###

Founded in 1989, The Buckeye Institute is an independent research and educational institution - a think tank - whose mission is to advance free-market public policy in the states.

The Buckeye Institute is a non-partisan, non-profit, and tax-exempt organization, as defined by section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue code. As such, it relies on support from individuals, corporations, and foundations that share a commitment to individual liberty, free enterprise, personal responsibility, and limited government. The Buckeye Institute does not seek or accept government funding.

= A

= A

The Buckeye Institute, 88 East Broad Street,
Suite 1120, Columbus, OH 43215

SafeUnsubscribe™ Nick.Derksen@ohiohouse.gov

Forward this email | Update Profile | About our service provider

Sent by info@buckeyeinstitute.org

From: The Buckeye Institute
Sent: Thursday, July 20, 2017 11:45 AM
To: Derksen, Nick
Subject: The Buckeye Institute Files Amicus Brief in Janus v. AFSCME Supporting Free Speech

Follow Up Flag: Follow up
Flag Status: Completed

Unsubscribe

It appears that you have subscribed to commercial messages from this sender. To stop receiving such messages from this sender, please unsubscribe

THE BUCKEYE INSTITUTE

Contact: Lisa Gates, Vice President of Comms

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

July 20, 2017

(614) 224-3255 or Lisa@BuckeyeInstitute.org

The Buckeye Institute Files Amicus Brief in Janus v. AFSCME Supporting Free Speech

Columbus, OH - The Buckeye Institute filed an amicus brief with the Supreme Court of the United States in the case Janus v. AFSCME, supporting Mark Janus and the First Amendment. In the brief, Buckeye shows that unions can survive without compelled contributions and, alternatively, this change will lead unions to better serve their members.

"Forcing employees to pay for speech with which they disagree is a violation of their First Amendment rights," said Robert Alt, president and CEO of The Buckeye Institute. "Neither Mr. Janus, nor anyone else, should ever be forced to pay fees to a union just to keep their jobs. Such compulsion is fundamentally unjust and unconstitutional."

Illinois, among other states, forces public sector employees who opt out of the union to pay an agency fee, which is supposed to support the union for collective bargaining services, including lobbying on behalf of the union. As a result, Mr. Janus, a child support specialist with the Illinois Department of Healthcare and Family Services, is forced to pay fees to the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME), a government union, to keep his job.

As Mr. Janus said in a January 2016 op-ed in the Chicago Tribune:

"I went into this line of work because I care about kids. But just because I care about kids doesn't mean I also want to support a government union. Unfortunately, I have no choice. To keep my job at the state, I have to pay monthly fees to the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, or AFSCME, a public employee union that claims to 'represent' me...

"The union voice is not my voice. The union's fight is not my fight. But a piece of my paycheck every week still goes to the union. I am not anti-union. Unions have their place. And some people like them. But unions aren't a fit for everyone. And I shouldn't be forced to pay money to a union if I don't think it does a good job representing my interests."

The Buckeye Institute's amicus brief was filed on July 7, 2017.

###

Founded in 1989, The Buckeye Institute is an independent research and educational institution - a think tank - whose mission is to advance free-market public policy in the states.

The Buckeye Institute is a non-partisan, non-profit, and tax-exempt organization, as defined by section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue code. As such, it relies on support from individuals, corporations, and foundations that share a commitment to individual liberty, free enterprise, personal responsibility, and limited government. The Buckeye Institute does not seek or accept government funding.

= A

= A

The Buckeye Institute, 88 East Broad Street,
Suite 1120, Columbus, OH 43215

SafeUnsubscribe™ Nick.Derksen@ohiohouse.gov

Forward this email | Update Profile | About our service provider

Sent by info@buckeyeinstitute.org

From: The Buckeye Institute
Sent: Thursday, July 20, 2017 11:45 AM
To: Derksen, Nick
Subject: The Buckeye Institute Files Amicus Brief in Janus v. AFSCME Supporting Free Speech

Follow Up Flag: Follow up
Flag Status: Completed

Unsubscribe

It appears that you have subscribed to commercial messages from this sender. To stop receiving such messages from this sender, please unsubscribe

THE BUCKEYE INSTITUTE

Contact: Lisa Gates, Vice President of Comms

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

July 20, 2017

(614) 224-3255 or Lisa@BuckeyeInstitute.org

The Buckeye Institute Files Amicus Brief in Janus v. AFSCME Supporting Free Speech

Columbus, OH - The Buckeye Institute filed an amicus brief with the Supreme Court of the United States in the case Janus v. AFSCME, supporting Mark Janus and the First Amendment. In the brief, Buckeye shows that unions can survive without compelled contributions and, alternatively, this change will lead unions to better serve their members.

"Forcing employees to pay for speech with which they disagree is a violation of their First Amendment rights," said Robert Alt, president and CEO of The Buckeye Institute. "Neither Mr. Janus, nor anyone else, should ever be forced to pay fees to a union just to keep their jobs. Such compulsion is fundamentally unjust and unconstitutional."

Illinois, among other states, forces public sector employees who opt out of the union to pay an agency fee, which is supposed to support the union for collective bargaining services, including lobbying on behalf of the union. As a result, Mr. Janus, a child support specialist with the Illinois Department of Healthcare and Family Services, is forced to pay fees to the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME), a government union, to keep his job.

As Mr. Janus said in a January 2016 op-ed in the Chicago Tribune:

"I went into this line of work because I care about kids. But just because I care about kids doesn't mean I also want to support a government union. Unfortunately, I have no choice. To keep my job at the state, I have to pay monthly fees to the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, or AFSCME, a public employee union that claims to 'represent' me...

"The union voice is not my voice. The union's fight is not my fight. But a piece of my paycheck every week still goes to the union. I am not anti-union. Unions have their place. And some people like them. But unions aren't a fit for everyone. And I shouldn't be forced to pay money to a union if I don't think it does a good job representing my interests."

The Buckeye Institute's amicus brief was filed on July 7, 2017.

###

Founded in 1989, The Buckeye Institute is an independent research and educational institution - a think tank - whose mission is to advance free-market public policy in the states.

The Buckeye Institute is a non-partisan, non-profit, and tax-exempt organization, as defined by section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue code. As such, it relies on support from individuals, corporations, and foundations that share a commitment to individual liberty, free enterprise, personal responsibility, and limited government. The Buckeye Institute does not seek or accept government funding.

= A

= A

The Buckeye Institute, 88 East Broad Street,
Suite 1120, Columbus, OH 43215

SafeUnsubscribe™ Nick.Derksen@ohiohouse.gov

Forward this email | Update Profile | About our service provider

Sent by info@buckeyeinstitute.org

From: The Buckeye Institute
Sent: Thursday, July 20, 2017 11:45 AM
To: Derksen, Nick
Subject: The Buckeye Institute Files Amicus Brief in Janus v. AFSCME Supporting Free Speech

Follow Up Flag: Follow up
Flag Status: Completed

Unsubscribe

It appears that you have subscribed to commercial messages from this sender. To stop receiving such messages from this sender, please unsubscribe

THE BUCKEYE INSTITUTE

Contact: Lisa Gates, Vice President of Comms

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

July 20, 2017

(614) 224-3255 or Lisa@BuckeyeInstitute.org

The Buckeye Institute Files Amicus Brief in Janus v. AFSCME Supporting Free Speech

Columbus, OH - The Buckeye Institute filed an amicus brief with the Supreme Court of the United States in the case Janus v. AFSCME, supporting Mark Janus and the First Amendment. In the brief, Buckeye shows that unions can survive without compelled contributions and, alternatively, this change will lead unions to better serve their members.

"Forcing employees to pay for speech with which they disagree is a violation of their First Amendment rights," said Robert Alt, president and CEO of The Buckeye Institute. "Neither Mr. Janus, nor anyone else, should ever be forced to pay fees to a union just to keep their jobs. Such compulsion is fundamentally unjust and unconstitutional."

Illinois, among other states, forces public sector employees who opt out of the union to pay an agency fee, which is supposed to support the union for collective bargaining services, including lobbying on behalf of the union. As a result, Mr. Janus, a child support specialist with the Illinois Department of Healthcare and Family Services, is forced to pay fees to the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME), a government union, to keep his job.

As Mr. Janus said in a January 2016 op-ed in the Chicago Tribune:

"I went into this line of work because I care about kids. But just because I care about kids doesn't mean I also want to support a government union. Unfortunately, I have no choice. To keep my job at the state, I have to pay monthly fees to the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, or AFSCME, a public employee union that claims to 'represent' me...

"The union voice is not my voice. The union's fight is not my fight. But a piece of my paycheck every week still goes to the union. I am not anti-union. Unions have their place. And some people like them. But unions aren't a fit for everyone. And I shouldn't be forced to pay money to a union if I don't think it does a good job representing my interests."

The Buckeye Institute's amicus brief was filed on July 7, 2017.

###

Founded in 1989, The Buckeye Institute is an independent research and educational institution - a think tank - whose mission is to advance free-market public policy in the states.

The Buckeye Institute is a non-partisan, non-profit, and tax-exempt organization, as defined by section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue code. As such, it relies on support from individuals, corporations, and foundations that share a commitment to individual liberty, free enterprise, personal responsibility, and limited government. The Buckeye Institute does not seek or accept government funding.

=A

=A

The Buckeye Institute, 88 East Broad Street,
Suite 1120, Columbus, OH 43215

SafeUnsubscribe™ Nick.Derksen@ohiohouse.gov

Forward this email | Update Profile | About our service provider

Sent by info@buckeyeinstitute.org

From: The Buckeye Institute
Sent: Thursday, September 28, 2017 9:02 AM
To: Derksen, Nick
Subject: Supreme Court Takes Up Janus v. AFSCME: The Buckeye Institute's Amicus Brief Called for Protection of 1st Amendment

Follow Up Flag: Follow up
Flag Status: Completed

Unsubscribe

It appears that you have subscribed to commercial messages from this sender. To stop receiving such messages from this sender, please unsubscribe

THE BUCKEYE INSTITUTE

Contact: Lisa Gates, Vice President of Comms

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

September 28, 2017

(614) 224-3255 or Lisa@BuckeyeInstitute.org

Supreme Court Takes Up *Janus v. AFSCME

The Buckeye Institute's Amicus Brief Called for Protection of 1st Amendment

Columbus, OH - This morning, the United States Supreme Court agreed to hear Janus v. AFSCME, which The Buckeye Institute asked the court to take up in its amicus brief, supporting Mark Janus and the First Amendment. In its brief, filed on July 7, 2017, Buckeye showed that unions can survive without compelled contributions and, alternatively, that this change will lead unions to better serve their members.

"We are pleased that the Supreme Court will take up this crucial case to protect the First Amendment rights of public employees," said Robert Alt, president and CEO of The Buckeye Institute. "Forcing employees to pay for speech with which they disagree and forcing them to pay fees to a union in order to keep their jobs is unjust and unconstitutional. We are confident that Mr. Janus will prevail and that the court will rule in favor of the First Amendment rights of all public employees."

Illinois, among other states, forces public sector employees who opt out of their union to pay an agency fee, which is supposed to support the union for collective bargaining services, including lobbying on behalf of the union. As a result, Mr. Janus, a child support specialist with the Illinois Department of Healthcare and Family Services, is forced to pay fees to the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME), a government union, in order to keep his job.

Highlighting how union compelled fees undermine the First Amendment, Mr. Janus said in a January 2016 op-ed in the Chicago Tribune:

"I went into this line of work because I care about kids. But just because I care about kids doesn't mean I also want to support a government union. Unfortunately, I have no choice. To keep my job at the state, I have to pay monthly fees to the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, or AFSCME, a public employee union that claims to 'represent' me...

"The union voice is not my voice. The union's fight is not my fight. But a piece of my paycheck every week still goes to the union. I am not anti-union. Unions have their place. And some people like them. But unions aren't a fit for everyone. And I shouldn't be forced to pay money to a union if I don't think it does a good job representing my interests."

###

Founded in 1989, The Buckeye Institute is an independent research and educational institution - a think tank - whose mission is to advance free-market public policy in the states.

The Buckeye Institute is a non-partisan, non-profit, and tax-exempt organization, as defined by section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue code. As such, it relies on support from individuals, corporations, and foundations that share a commitment to individual liberty, free enterprise, personal responsibility, and limited government. The Buckeye Institute does not seek or accept government funding.

= A

= A

The Buckeye Institute, 88 East Broad Street,
Suite 1120, Columbus, OH 43215

SafeUnsubscribe™ Nick.Derksen@ohiohouse.gov

Forward this email | Update Profile | About our service provider

Sent by info@buckeyeinstitute.org

From: The Buckeye Institute

Sent: Thursday, September 28, 2017 9:02 AM

To: Derksen, Nick

Subject: Supreme Court Takes Up Janus v. AFSCME: The Buckeye Institute's Amicus Brief Called for Protection of 1st Amendment

Follow Up Flag: Follow up

Flag Status: Completed

Unsubscribe

It appears that you have subscribed to commercial messages from this sender. To stop receiving such messages from this sender, please unsubscribe

THE BUCKEYE INSTITUTE

Contact: Lisa Gates, Vice President of Comms

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

September 28, 2017

(614) 224-3255 or Lisa@BuckeyeInstitute.org

Supreme Court Takes Up *Janus v. AFSCME

The Buckeye Institute's Amicus Brief Called for Protection of 1st Amendment

Columbus, OH - This morning, the United States Supreme Court agreed to hear Janus v. AFSCME, which The Buckeye Institute asked the court to take up in its amicus brief, supporting Mark Janus and the First Amendment. In its brief, filed on July 7, 2017, Buckeye showed that unions can survive without compelled contributions and, alternatively, that this change will lead unions to better serve their members.

"We are pleased that the Supreme Court will take up this crucial case to protect the First Amendment rights of public employees," said Robert Alt, president and CEO of The Buckeye Institute. "Forcing employees to pay for speech with which they disagree and forcing them to pay fees to a union in order to keep their jobs is unjust and unconstitutional. We are confident that Mr. Janus will prevail and that the court will rule in favor of the First Amendment rights of all public employees."

Illinois, among other states, forces public sector employees who opt out of their union to pay an agency fee, which is supposed to support the union for collective bargaining services, including lobbying on behalf of the union. As a result, Mr. Janus, a child support specialist with the Illinois Department of Healthcare and Family Services, is forced to pay fees to the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME), a government union, in order to keep his job.

Highlighting how union compelled fees undermine the First Amendment, Mr. Janus said in a January 2016 op-ed in the Chicago Tribune:

"I went into this line of work because I care about kids. But just because I care about kids doesn't mean I also want to support a government union. Unfortunately, I have no choice. To keep my job at the state, I have to pay monthly fees to the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, or AFSCME, a public employee union that claims to 'represent' me...

"The union voice is not my voice. The union's fight is not my fight. But a piece of my paycheck every week still goes to the union. I am not anti-union. Unions have their place. And some people like them. But unions aren't a fit for everyone. And I shouldn't be forced to pay money to a union if I don't think it does a good job representing my interests."

###

Founded in 1989, The Buckeye Institute is an independent research and educational institution - a think tank - whose mission is to advance free-market public policy in the states.

The Buckeye Institute is a non-partisan, non-profit, and tax-exempt organization, as defined by section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue code. As such, it relies on support from individuals, corporations, and foundations that share a commitment to individual liberty, free enterprise, personal responsibility, and limited government. The Buckeye Institute does not seek or accept government funding.

= A

= A

The Buckeye Institute, 88 East Broad Street,
Suite 1120, Columbus, OH 43215

SafeUnsubscribe™ Nick.Derksen@ohiohouse.gov

Forward this email | Update Profile | About our service provider

Sent by info@buckeyeinstitute.org

From: The Buckeye Institute
Sent: Thursday, September 28, 2017 9:02 AM
To: Derksen, Nick
Subject: Supreme Court Takes Up Janus v. AFSCME: The Buckeye Institute's Amicus Brief Called for Protection of 1st Amendment

Follow Up Flag: Follow up
Flag Status: Completed

Unsubscribe

It appears that you have subscribed to commercial messages from this sender. To stop receiving such messages from this sender, please unsubscribe

THE BUCKEYE INSTITUTE

Contact: Lisa Gates, Vice President of Comms

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

September 28, 2017

(614) 224-3255 or Lisa@BuckeyeInstitute.org

Supreme Court Takes Up *Janus v. AFSCME

The Buckeye Institute's Amicus Brief Called for Protection of 1st Amendment

Columbus, OH - This morning, the United States Supreme Court agreed to hear Janus v. AFSCME, which The Buckeye Institute asked the court to take up in its amicus brief, supporting Mark Janus and the First Amendment. In its brief, filed on July 7, 2017, Buckeye showed that unions can survive without compelled contributions and, alternatively, that this change will lead unions to better serve their members.

"We are pleased that the Supreme Court will take up this crucial case to protect the First Amendment rights of public employees," said Robert Alt, president and CEO of The Buckeye Institute. "Forcing employees to pay for speech with which they disagree and forcing them to pay fees to a union in order to keep their jobs is unjust and unconstitutional. We are confident that Mr. Janus will prevail and that the court will rule in favor of the First Amendment rights of all public employees."

Illinois, among other states, forces public sector employees who opt out of their union to pay an agency fee, which is supposed to support the union for collective bargaining services, including lobbying on behalf of the union. As a result, Mr. Janus, a child support specialist with the Illinois Department of Healthcare and Family Services, is forced to pay fees to the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME), a government union, in order to keep his job.

Highlighting how union compelled fees undermine the First Amendment, Mr. Janus said in a January 2016 op-ed in the Chicago Tribune:

"I went into this line of work because I care about kids. But just because I care about kids doesn't mean I also want to support a government union. Unfortunately, I have no choice. To keep my job at the state, I have to pay monthly fees to the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, or AFSCME, a public employee union that claims to 'represent' me...

"The union voice is not my voice. The union's fight is not my fight. But a piece of my paycheck every week still goes to the union. I am not anti-union. Unions have their place. And some people like them. But unions aren't a fit for everyone. And I shouldn't be forced to pay money to a union if I don't think it does a good job representing my interests."

###

Founded in 1989, The Buckeye Institute is an independent research and educational institution - a think tank - whose mission is to advance free-market public policy in the states.

The Buckeye Institute is a non-partisan, non-profit, and tax-exempt organization, as defined by section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue code. As such, it relies on support from individuals, corporations, and foundations that share a commitment to individual liberty, free enterprise, personal responsibility, and limited government. The Buckeye Institute does not seek or accept government funding.

= A

= A

The Buckeye Institute, 88 East Broad Street,
Suite 1120, Columbus, OH 43215

SafeUnsubscribe™ Nick.Derksen@ohiohouse.gov

Forward this email | Update Profile | About our service provider

Sent by info@buckeyeinstitute.org

From: The Buckeye Institute

Sent: Thursday, September 28, 2017 9:02 AM

To: Derksen, Nick

Subject: Supreme Court Takes Up Janus v. AFSCME: The Buckeye Institute's Amicus Brief Called for Protection of 1st Amendment

Follow Up Flag: Follow up

Flag Status: Completed

Unsubscribe

It appears that you have subscribed to commercial messages from this sender. To stop receiving such messages from this sender, please unsubscribe

THE BUCKEYE INSTITUTE

Contact: Lisa Gates, Vice President of Comms

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

September 28, 2017

(614) 224-3255 or Lisa@BuckeyeInstitute.org

Supreme Court Takes Up *Janus v. AFSCME

The Buckeye Institute's Amicus Brief Called for Protection of 1st Amendment

Columbus, OH - This morning, the United States Supreme Court agreed to hear Janus v. AFSCME, which The Buckeye Institute asked the court to take up in its amicus brief, supporting Mark Janus and the First Amendment. In its brief, filed on July 7, 2017, Buckeye showed that unions can survive without compelled contributions and, alternatively, that this change will lead unions to better serve their members.

"We are pleased that the Supreme Court will take up this crucial case to protect the First Amendment rights of public employees," said Robert Alt, president and CEO of The Buckeye Institute. "Forcing employees to pay for speech with which they disagree and forcing them to pay fees to a union in order to keep their jobs is unjust and unconstitutional. We are confident that Mr. Janus will prevail and that the court will rule in favor of the First Amendment rights of all public employees."

Illinois, among other states, forces public sector employees who opt out of their union to pay an agency fee, which is supposed to support the union for collective bargaining services, including lobbying on behalf of the union. As a result, Mr. Janus, a child support specialist with the Illinois Department of Healthcare and Family Services, is forced to pay fees to the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME), a government union, in order to keep his job.

Highlighting how union compelled fees undermine the First Amendment, Mr. Janus said in a January 2016 op-ed in the Chicago Tribune:

"I went into this line of work because I care about kids. But just because I care about kids doesn't mean I also want to support a government union. Unfortunately, I have no choice. To keep my job at the state, I have to pay monthly fees to the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, or AFSCME, a public employee union that claims to 'represent' me...

"The union voice is not my voice. The union's fight is not my fight. But a piece of my paycheck every week still goes to the union. I am not anti-union. Unions have their place. And some people like them. But unions aren't a fit for everyone. And I shouldn't be forced to pay money to a union if I don't think it does a good job representing my interests."

###

Founded in 1989, The Buckeye Institute is an independent research and educational institution - a think tank - whose mission is to advance free-market public policy in the states.

The Buckeye Institute is a non-partisan, non-profit, and tax-exempt organization, as defined by section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue code. As such, it relies on support from individuals, corporations, and foundations that share a commitment to individual liberty, free enterprise, personal responsibility, and limited government. The Buckeye Institute does not seek or accept government funding.

= A

= A

The Buckeye Institute, 88 East Broad Street,
Suite 1120, Columbus, OH 43215

SafeUnsubscribe™ Nick.Derksen@ohiohouse.gov

Forward this email | Update Profile | About our service provider

Sent by info@buckeyeinstitute.org

From: Thomas B. Fordham Institute

Sent: Wednesday, January 10, 2018 2:04 PM

To: Derksen, Nick

Subject: The Education Gadfly Weekly: Why disparate impact theory is a bad fit for school discipline

Follow Up Flag: Follow up

Flag Status: Completed

Unsubscribe

It appears that you have subscribed to commercial messages from this sender. To stop receiving such messages from this sender, please unsubscribe

THE EDUCATION GADFLY WEEKLY

VOLUME 18 NUMBER 2 | JANUARY 10, 2018

WHY DISPARATE IMPACT THEORY IS A BAD FIT
FOR SCHOOL DISCIPLINE

By Michael J. Petrilli

Frightening the children

By Robert Pondiscio

How Ohio's walk back of graduation requirements is like overprotective parenting

= A

By Jamie Davies O'Leary

OPINION

Why disparate impact theory is a bad fit for school discipline

By Michael J. Petrilli

In 2014, the Obama Administration used a "Dear Colleague" letter to apply disparate impact theory to school discipline, warning that schools could be subject to a civil rights investigation if their data showed significant racial disparities in the use of suspensions or expulsions, and could be found guilty of violating federal law even if they had race-neutral discipline policies that were being applied even-handedly. This application incorrectly assumes that any racial disparity in discipline reflects discrimination rather than differences in student behavior, and it limits schools' discipline options. This potentially leads to greater disorder and violence and harms well-behaved students of color the most. Read more.

Frightening the children

By Robert Pondiscio

Last month the New York Times profiled a “social-emotional-learning” curriculum inspired by a challenge from the Dalai Lama and developed at the University of Wisconsin–Madison. A teacher at a school that uses the curriculum was quoted as saying “Our world is kind of a scary place. We can’t always control what is happening outside us.” But which would have a more significant effect on students, particularly the very youngest ones: a good social-emotional-learning curriculum or a teacher who thinks the world is a scary place? Perhaps early childhood teachers who view the world as awe-inspiring and who are eager to share their optimism and excitement with students might be more beneficial than teaching coping skills. Read more.

How Ohio’s walk back of graduation requirements is like overprotective parenting

By Jamie Davies O’Leary

State-level policymaking should be like good parenting. It should incentivize the behaviors you’re looking to inspire, grant autonomy when your charges have earned it, and refrain from too much meddling or coddling. It should be transparent and honest, truthful about tradeoffs between short-term discomfort and long-term gain, and motivated by a clear compass rooted in what’s in the best interest of the kids’ wellbeing. So why does Ohio’s latest softening on what we expect of our high schoolers bring to mind so many parallels to helicopter parenting? Read more.

On this week's podcast, Benjamin Boer, deputy director at Advance Illinois, joins Mike Petrilli and Alyssa Schwenk to discuss how a coalition of advocates succeeded in getting the Land of Lincoln to overhaul its inequitable school funding formula. During the Research Minute, Amber Northern examines the relationship between high school value added and students' college success.

REVIEWS

STUDY

The link between the quality of high schools and their students' success in college

By Amber M. Northern, Ph.D.

Critics of test-based accountability sometimes argue that there's little evidence that schools that boost students' test scores also prepare them for long-term success. A recent Institute of Education Sciences-commissioned study by Daniel Hubbard helps to fill this gap. It finds a statistically positive relationship between high schools' value-added scores and students' first-year college course grades. Read more.

STUDY

School features associated with student growth in New Orleans charter schools

By Nicholas Munyan-Penney

A new study from Patrick J. Wolf of the University of Arkansas and Shannon Lasserre-Cortez of the American Institutes for Research examines charter school features that are most associated with high student growth in the Big Easy. Looking at fourteen organizational, operational, and instructional school characteristics, they find, among other things, that schools that include kindergarten, have an extended school year, and employ more experienced teachers all had statistically significantly associations with growth in ELA; the presence of kindergarten was also associated with math growth. On the negative side, higher percentages of teachers with a graduate degree and higher student-teacher ratios were associated with declines. Read more.

WHAT WE'RE READING

- "Timing, we believe, is an art. In fact, timing is a science." —The Atlantic
- The frustrating and paradoxical nature of progress. —Washington Post
- Although many of us are happy to say goodbye to 2017, it was actually the best year in the history of humanity. —New York Times

= 9

- Will Janus v. AFSCME cripple teachers unions? —Weekly Standard
- Are universities fueling our hostile political climate? —City Journal
- Twenty-five years under Massachusetts's landmark Education Reform Act of 1993. —CommonWealth Magazine
- The surprising makeup of today's college students. —Wall Street Journal
- An editorial board's argument for keeping accountability in education reform. —Seattle Times
- Overcoming school choice's overlooked challenges. —Washington Post

= A

ICYMI

= A

FLYPAPER | JANUARY 10, 2018

Parent-teacher conferences: Harder to get into than a Jimmy Buffet concert?

By Erika Sanzi

Parents with multiple school-age children attend lots of parent-teacher conferences, and there's nothing universal about the experience. Some are great, some aren't, and the worst might be those at schools that don't provide meetings to every parent that wants one—a situation that's far too common. Indeed, most middle and high schools forgo conferences entirely. But there's something inherently wrong with this approach, and schools have to find a way to connect more teachers with more parents. Fortunately, some places do this well and can serve as models for those that don't. Read more.

FLYPAPER | JANUARY 9, 2018

Six intriguing candidates for New York City schools chancellor

By Charles Sahm

= A

With New York City Schools Chancellor Carmen Fariña stepping down and the de Blasio administration reportedly conducting a national search for her replacement, the director of education policy at the Manhattan Institute offers six serious (and not-so-serious) suggestions of intriguing candidates to run the city's schools during the mayor's second term. Hint: One of them wouldn't throw away his shot. Read more.

FLYPAPER | JANUARY 9, 2018

State ESSA plans embrace CTE, but there's still much work to be done

By Kate Kreamer and Ryan Reyna

The movement to expand career readiness is gaining strength across the country. That's what the executive director at Advance CTE and a senior associate at Education Strategy Group found in a joint brief that reviewed every state's Every Student Succeeds Act plan. Almost all include at least one strategy to encourage high-quality CTE, and, much more so than in the past, states are simultaneously creating more of these opportunities and holding schools accountable for graduating career-ready students. Unfortunately, it's too soon to declare victory because most states failed to fully leverage ESSA's flexibility to advance career readiness. Read more.

FYI

Register for “Making the Grade: Debating School Performance Ratings,” Thursday’s webinar from the Alliance for Excellent Education

= A

The Thomas B. Fordham Institute recently released Rating the Ratings: An Analysis of the 51 ESSA Accountability Plans, a report that examines rating systems submitted by all fifty states and the District of Columbia. This webinar will present the findings of that analysis, followed by a debate on the merits and downfalls of summative school ratings between Fordham’s Mike Petrilli and Phillip Lovell, vice president of policy development and government relations at the Alliance for Excellent Education. Register now.

Apply to be deputy communications director at the American Federation for Children

= A

The American Federation for Children is seeking a senior communications team member to help expand K–12 educational opportunities for families across the United States. The Deputy Communications Director will work extensively with the National Communications Director, AFC staff, and education reform partners in D.C. and the states to expand school choice nationwide. The position is based in Washington, D.C. Click here to learn more.

Want to read this all in one place? Check out Gadfly Original!

Share on

Have something to say? Email us at thegadfly@edexcellence.net.

The Thomas B. Fordham Institute

1016 16th St. NW, Floor 8, Washington, DC 20036
202-223-5452

---

This email was sent to nick.derksen@ohiohouse.gov

why did I get this? unsubscribe from this list update subscription preferences

Thomas B. Fordham Institute · 1016 16th St. NW 7 Floor 8 · Washington, DC 20036 · USA

From: Thomas B. Fordham Institute

Sent: Wednesday, January 10, 2018 2:04 PM

To: Derksen, Nick

Subject: The Education Gadfly Weekly: Why disparate impact theory is a bad fit for school discipline

Follow Up Flag: Follow up

Flag Status: Completed

Unsubscribe

It appears that you have subscribed to commercial messages from this sender. To stop receiving such messages from this sender, please unsubscribe

THE EDUCATION GADFLY WEEKLY

VOLUME 18 NUMBER 2 | JANUARY 10, 2018

WHY DISPARATE IMPACT THEORY IS A BAD FIT
FOR SCHOOL DISCIPLINE

By Michael J. Petrilli

= A

Frightening the children

By Robert Pondiscio

How Ohio's walk back of graduation requirements is like overprotective parenting

= A

By Jamie Davies O'Leary

OPINION

Why disparate impact theory is a bad fit for school discipline

By Michael J. Petrilli

In 2014, the Obama Administration used a "Dear Colleague" letter to apply disparate impact theory to school discipline, warning that schools could be subject to a civil rights investigation if their data showed significant racial disparities in the use of suspensions or expulsions, and could be found guilty of violating federal law even if they had race-neutral discipline policies that were being applied even-handedly. This application incorrectly assumes that any racial disparity in discipline reflects discrimination rather than differences in student behavior, and it limits schools'

discipline options. This potentially leads to greater disorder and violence and harms well-behaved students of color the most. Read more.

Frightening the children

By Robert Pondiscio

Last month the New York Times profiled a “social-emotional-learning” curriculum inspired by a challenge from the Dalai Lama and developed at the University of Wisconsin–Madison. A teacher at a school that uses the curriculum was quoted as saying “Our world is kind of a scary place. We can’t always control what is happening outside us.” But which would have a more significant effect on students, particularly the very youngest ones: a good social-emotional-learning curriculum or a teacher who thinks the world is a scary place? Perhaps early childhood teachers who view the world as awe-inspiring and who are eager to share their optimism and excitement with students might be more beneficial than teaching coping skills. Read more.

How Ohio’s walk back of graduation requirements is like overprotective parenting

By Jamie Davies O’Leary

State-level policymaking should be like good parenting. It should incentivize the behaviors you’re looking to inspire, grant autonomy when your charges have earned it, and refrain from too much meddling or coddling. It should be transparent and honest, truthful about tradeoffs between short-term discomfort and long-term gain, and motivated by a clear compass rooted in what’s in the best interest of the kids’ wellbeing. So why does Ohio’s latest softening on what we expect of our high schoolers bring to mind so many parallels to helicopter parenting? Read more.

= A

THE EDUCATION GADFLY SHOW

A MASTER CLASS IN STATE POLICYMAKING

On this week's podcast, Benjamin Boer, deputy director at Advance Illinois, joins Mike Petrilli and Alyssa Schwenk to discuss how a coalition of advocates succeeded in getting the Land of Lincoln to overhaul its inequitable school funding formula. During the Research Minute, Amber Northern examines the relationship between high school value added and students' college success.

REVIEWS

STUDY

The link between the quality of high schools and their students' success in college

By Amber M. Northern, Ph.D.

Critics of test-based accountability sometimes argue that there's little evidence that schools that boost students' test scores also prepare them for long-term success. A recent Institute of Education Sciences—commissioned study by Daniel Hubbard helps to fill this gap. It finds a statistically positive relationship between high schools' value-added scores and students' first-year college course grades. Read more.

STUDY

School features associated with student growth in New Orleans charter schools

By Nicholas Munyan-Penney

A new study from Patrick J. Wolf of the University of Arkansas and Shannon Lasserre-Cortez of the American Institutes for Research examines charter school features that are most associated with high student growth in the Big Easy. Looking at fourteen organizational, operational, and instructional school characteristics, they find, among other things, that schools that include kindergarten, have an extended school year, and employ more experienced teachers all had statistically significantly associations with growth in ELA; the presence of kindergarten was also associated with math growth. On the negative side, higher percentages of teachers with a graduate degree and higher student-teacher ratios were associated with declines. Read more.

WHAT WE'RE READING

- "Timing, we believe, is an art. In fact, timing is a science." —The Atlantic
- The frustrating and paradoxical nature of progress. —Washington Post
- Although many of us are happy to say goodbye to 2017, it was actually the best year in the history of humanity. —New York Times

= 9

- Will Janus v. AFSCME cripple teachers unions? —Weekly Standard
- Are universities fueling our hostile political climate? —City Journal
- Twenty-five years under Massachusetts's landmark Education Reform Act of 1993. —CommonWealth Magazine
- The surprising makeup of today's college students. —Wall Street Journal
- An editorial board's argument for keeping accountability in education reform. —Seattle Times
- Overcoming school choice's overlooked challenges. —Washington Post

= A

ICYMI

= A

FLYPAPER | JANUARY 10, 2018

Parent-teacher conferences: Harder to get into than a Jimmy Buffet concert?

By Erika Sanzi

Parents with multiple school-age children attend lots of parent-teacher conferences, and there's nothing universal about the experience. Some are great, some aren't, and the worst might be those at schools that don't provide meetings to every parent that wants one—a situation that's far too common. Indeed, most middle and high schools forgo conferences entirely. But there's something inherently wrong with this approach, and schools have to find a way to connect more teachers with more parents. Fortunately, some places do this well and can serve as models for those that don't. Read more.

FLYPAPER | JANUARY 9, 2018

Six intriguing candidates for New York City schools chancellor

By Charles Sahm

= A

With New York City Schools Chancellor Carmen Fariña stepping down and the de Blasio administration reportedly conducting a national search for her replacement, the director of education policy at the Manhattan Institute offers six serious (and not-so-serious) suggestions of intriguing candidates to run the city's schools during the mayor's second term. Hint: One of them wouldn't throw away his shot. Read more.

FLYPAPER | JANUARY 9, 2018

State ESSA plans embrace CTE, but there's still much work to be done

By Kate Kreamer and Ryan Reyna

The movement to expand career readiness is gaining strength across the country. That's what the executive director at Advance CTE and a senior associate at Education Strategy Group found in a joint brief that reviewed every state's Every Student Succeeds Act plan. Almost all include at least one strategy to encourage high-quality CTE, and, much more so than in the past, states are simultaneously creating more of these opportunities and holding schools accountable for graduating career-ready students. Unfortunately, it's too soon to declare victory because most states failed to fully leverage ESSA's flexibility to advance career readiness. Read more.

FYI

Register for “Making the Grade: Debating School Performance Ratings,” Thursday’s webinar from the Alliance for Excellent Education

= A

The Thomas B. Fordham Institute recently released Rating the Ratings: An Analysis of the 51 ESSA Accountability Plans, a report that examines rating systems submitted by all fifty states and the District of Columbia. This webinar will present the findings of that analysis, followed by a debate on the merits and downfalls of summative school ratings between Fordham’s Mike Petrilli and Phillip Lovell, vice president of policy development and government relations at the Alliance for Excellent Education. Register now.

Apply to be deputy communications director at the American Federation for Children

= A

The American Federation for Children is seeking a senior communications team member to help expand K–12 educational opportunities for families across the United States. The Deputy Communications Director will work extensively with the National Communications Director, AFC staff, and education reform partners in D.C. and the states to expand school choice nationwide. The position is based in Washington, D.C. Click here to learn more.

Want to read this all in one place? Check out Gadfly Original!

Share on

Have something to say? Email us at thegadfly@edexcellence.net.

The Thomas B. Fordham Institute

1016 16th St. NW, Floor 8, Washington, DC 20036
202-223-5452

---

This email was sent to nick.derksen@ohiohouse.gov

why did I get this? unsubscribe from this list update subscription preferences

Thomas B. Fordham Institute · 1016 16th St. NW 7 Floor 8 · Washington, DC 20036 · USA

From: Thomas B. Fordham Institute

Sent: Wednesday, January 10, 2018 2:04 PM

To: Derksen, Nick

Subject: The Education Gadfly Weekly: Why disparate impact theory is a bad fit for school discipline

Follow Up Flag: Follow up

Flag Status: Completed

Unsubscribe

It appears that you have subscribed to commercial messages from this sender. To stop receiving such messages from this sender, please unsubscribe

THE EDUCATION GADFLY WEEKLY

VOLUME 18 NUMBER 2 | JANUARY 10, 2018

WHY DISPARATE IMPACT THEORY IS A BAD FIT
FOR SCHOOL DISCIPLINE

By Michael J. Petrilli

Frightening the children

By Robert Pondiscio

How Ohio's walk back of graduation requirements is like overprotective parenting

= A

By Jamie Davies O'Leary

OPINION

Why disparate impact theory is a bad fit for school discipline

By Michael J. Petrilli

In 2014, the Obama Administration used a "Dear Colleague" letter to apply disparate impact theory to school discipline, warning that schools could be subject to a civil rights investigation if their data showed significant racial disparities in the use of suspensions or expulsions, and could be found guilty of violating federal law even if they had race-neutral discipline policies that were being applied even-handedly. This application incorrectly assumes that any racial disparity in discipline reflects discrimination rather than differences in student behavior, and it limits schools' discipline options. This potentially leads to greater disorder and violence and harms well-behaved students of color the most. Read more.

Frightening the children

By Robert Pondiscio

Last month the New York Times profiled a “social-emotional-learning” curriculum inspired by a challenge from the Dalai Lama and developed at the University of Wisconsin–Madison. A teacher at a school that uses the curriculum was quoted as saying “Our world is kind of a scary place. We can’t always control what is happening outside us.” But which would have a more significant effect on students, particularly the very youngest ones: a good social-emotional-learning curriculum or a teacher who thinks the world is a scary place? Perhaps early childhood teachers who view the world as awe-inspiring and who are eager to share their optimism and excitement with students might be more beneficial than teaching coping skills. Read more.

How Ohio’s walk back of graduation requirements is like overprotective parenting

By Jamie Davies O’Leary

State-level policymaking should be like good parenting. It should incentivize the behaviors you’re looking to inspire, grant autonomy when your charges have earned it, and refrain from too much meddling or coddling. It should be transparent and honest, truthful about tradeoffs between short-term discomfort and long-term gain, and motivated by a clear compass rooted in what’s in the best interest of the kids’ wellbeing. So why does Ohio’s latest softening on what we expect of our high schoolers bring to mind so many parallels to helicopter parenting? Read more.

= A

THE EDUCATION GADFLY SHOW

A MASTER CLASS IN STATE POLICYMAKING

On this week's podcast, Benjamin Boer, deputy director at Advance Illinois, joins Mike Petrilli and Alyssa Schwenk to discuss how a coalition of advocates succeeded in getting the Land of Lincoln to overhaul its inequitable school funding formula. During the Research Minute, Amber Northern examines the relationship between high school value added and students' college success.

REVIEWS

STUDY

The link between the quality of high schools and their students' success in college

By Amber M. Northern, Ph.D.

Critics of test-based accountability sometimes argue that there's little evidence that schools that boost students' test scores also prepare them for long-term success. A recent Institute of Education Sciences–commissioned study by Daniel Hubbard helps to fill this gap. It finds a statistically positive relationship between high schools' value-added scores and students' first-year college course grades. Read more.

STUDY

School features associated with student growth in New Orleans charter schools

By Nicholas Munyan-Penney

A new study from Patrick J. Wolf of the University of Arkansas and Shannon Lasserre-Cortez of the American Institutes for Research examines charter school features that are most associated with high student growth in the Big Easy. Looking at fourteen organizational, operational, and instructional school characteristics, they find, among other things, that schools that include kindergarten, have an extended school year, and employ more experienced teachers all had statistically significantly associations with growth in ELA; the presence of kindergarten was also associated with math growth. On the negative side, higher percentages of teachers with a graduate degree and higher student-teacher ratios were associated with declines. Read more.

WHAT WE'RE READING

- "Timing, we believe, is an art. In fact, timing is a science." —The Atlantic
- The frustrating and paradoxical nature of progress. —Washington Post
- Although many of us are happy to say goodbye to 2017, it was actually the best year in the history of humanity. —New York Times

= 9

- Will Janus v. AFSCME cripple teachers unions? —Weekly Standard
- Are universities fueling our hostile political climate? —City Journal
- Twenty-five years under Massachusetts's landmark Education Reform Act of 1993. —CommonWealth Magazine
- The surprising makeup of today's college students. —Wall Street Journal
- An editorial board's argument for keeping accountability in education reform. —Seattle Times
- Overcoming school choice's overlooked challenges. —Washington Post

= A

ICYMI

= A

FLYPAPER | JANUARY 10, 2018

Parent-teacher conferences: Harder to get into than a Jimmy Buffet concert?

By Erika Sanzi

Parents with multiple school-age children attend lots of parent-teacher conferences, and there's nothing universal about the experience. Some are great, some aren't, and the worst might be those at schools that don't provide meetings to every parent that wants one—a situation that's far too common. Indeed, most middle and high schools forgo conferences entirely. But there's something inherently wrong with this approach, and schools have to find a way to connect more teachers with more parents. Fortunately, some places do this well and can serve as models for those that don't. Read more.

FLYPAPER | JANUARY 9, 2018

Six intriguing candidates for New York City schools chancellor

By Charles Sahm

= A

With New York City Schools Chancellor Carmen Fariña stepping down and the de Blasio administration reportedly conducting a national search for her replacement, the director of education policy at the Manhattan Institute offers six serious (and not-so-serious) suggestions of intriguing candidates to run the city's schools during the mayor's second term. Hint: One of them wouldn't throw away his shot. Read more.

FLYPAPER | JANUARY 9, 2018

State ESSA plans embrace CTE, but there's still much work to be done

By Kate Kreamer and Ryan Reyna

The movement to expand career readiness is gaining strength across the country. That's what the executive director at Advance CTE and a senior associate at Education Strategy Group found in a joint brief that reviewed every state's Every Student Succeeds Act plan. Almost all include at least one strategy to encourage high-quality CTE, and, much more so than in the past, states are simultaneously creating more of these opportunities and holding schools accountable for graduating career-ready students. Unfortunately, it's too soon to declare victory because most states failed to fully leverage ESSA's flexibility to advance career readiness. Read more.

FYI

Register for “Making the Grade: Debating School Performance Ratings,” Thursday’s webinar from the Alliance for Excellent Education

= A

The Thomas B. Fordham Institute recently released Rating the Ratings: An Analysis of the 51 ESSA Accountability Plans, a report that examines rating systems submitted by all fifty states and the District of Columbia. This webinar will present the findings of that analysis, followed by a debate on the merits and downfalls of summative school ratings between Fordham’s Mike Petrilli and Phillip Lovell, vice president of policy development and government relations at the Alliance for Excellent Education. Register now.

Apply to be deputy communications director at the American Federation for Children

= A

The American Federation for Children is seeking a senior communications team member to help expand K–12 educational opportunities for families across the United States. The Deputy Communications Director will work extensively with the National Communications Director, AFC staff, and education reform partners in D.C. and the states to expand school choice nationwide. The position is based in Washington, D.C. Click here to learn more.

Want to read this all in one place? Check out Gadfly Original!

Share on

Have something to say? Email us at thegadfly@edexcellence.net.

The Thomas B. Fordham Institute